New Emphasis on Emergency Drainage Financing from U. S.

STEADY RAINFALL throughout yesterday, added to intermittent downpours Monday and Tuesday, inundated streets in the northeast section of Granite City because of inadequate drainage. Much of the stormwater from the area drains into the adjoining Doherty Slough which has proved inadequate to handle the volume in periods of heavy rainfall. Rainfall totaling 3.13 inches fell yesterday and last night for a total fall of 3.93 inches since Monday. This photo is a view of Lynch Avenue.

Truck Crushes Man After Dispute

A 20-year-old Madison man was fatally crushed when he was run over by the rear wheels of a tractor-trailer in Madison at 4:45 a.m. Tuesday.

James DeW Wallace, 1835 Second St., Madison, was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner.

The driver of the truck, James R. Hewitt, and a co-driver, George Papachristou, both of Norman, Okla., were taken into custody for questioning and were released at 5 p.m. Tuesday after police investigator Paul Bargetel declared the death was accidental.

Witnesses said Mr. Wallace and Papachristou had an argument in a nearby tavern earlier and that Mr. Wallace allegedly was striking the moving truck with a baseball bat when he apparently slipped on the wet pavement and fell under the left rear wheels of the trailer.

Returning to Truck
Hewitt and Papachristou said they were returning to their truck about 4:30 a.m. and were near the Stop-Over Truck Stop, 108 State St., when they heard footsteps behind them and turned to see Mr. Wallace running with a baseball bat.

The drivers told police they ran to their truck, parked at the northwest corner of 10th and State streets, and started to drive from the scene.

Mr. Wallace was knocking at the windows of the truck stop with a baseball bat, awaking the proprietor, Lee Fackler.

While Fackler and Mr. Wallace were talking, the truck turned north onto State Street and Wallace ran into the street in front of the vehicle, police were told.

Hewitt said he halted the truck but started moving again when Mr. Wallace began to strike the driver's door with the bat. Mr. Wallace apparently slipped after the rear wheels of the tractor had passed, and was run over by the trailer wheels.

An examination of Mr. Wallace's body after the accident showed he sustained a broken neck, left arm, pelvis, right hip and right leg, a crushed rib cage, lacerations to his left leg and right arm and two mangled fingers on his left hand.

Mr. Wallace was born in Birchtree, Mo., and had resided in Madison five years. He was employed four years by Kilark Electrical Manufacturing Co., St. Louis, as a laborer.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs.

JAMES WALLACE

Ethel May Wallace; two daughters, Misses Layonne and Lorette Wallace, at home; six brothers, David, Junior, Brad and Kevin Wallace of Granite City, and Jerry and Michael Wallace of Birchtree.

Five sisters, Mrs. Shirley Smotherman of Winona, Mo.; Mrs. Joyce Barnes and Miss Brenda Wallace of Van Buren, Mo.; Mrs. Janice Smotherman of Birchtree, and Miss Angela Wallace of Granite City; his

This week's nearly four inches of rain plagued Quad-Cities and gave new impetus to the effort by Governor Ogilvie and local officials to obtain federal emergency drainage funds under Public Law 99.

Streets were inundated by the rainfall, which totaled 3.93 inches from Monday through last night, including 3.13 inches recorded between 8 a.m. yesterday and 8 a.m. today.

Streets affected by the heavy rain included northeast Granite City, Pontoon Beach and the Doherty Slough area of Nameki Township, where flash flooding in recent years has prompted plans by the state for a $4 million conduit leading to Horseshoe Lake.

Hard hit sections in the flooding yesterday included Lynch Avenue, Pine Street and Vest Avenue.

Rainfall in the Quad-Cities totaled 3.1 of an inch as tallied Tuesday morning, .49 of an inch Wednesday and the 3.13 inches recorded at 8 a.m. today.

With State Senator Vadabene and Representatives Calvo, Kennedy and Walters present here Aug. 11, Gov. Ogilvie announced formal adoption of an emergency program for construction of storm drainage facilities from the Doherty Slough area, Granite City and Pontoon Beach.

A closely-related part of the improvement plan is construction of a low-level outlet from Horseshoe Lake into the Cahokia Canal, which connects with the Mississippi River at the North Pumping Station. Work on the low-level outlet is expected to be started within three weeks.

On its low bid of $138,797, Eugene Lutz & Co. of Columbia has been recommended for the contract by Chief Waterways Engineer John C. Guillou. Approval is expected from Transportation Secretary William F. Celler.

Other bidders were M. H. Wolfe & Co., Granite City, $145,021; G. H. Sternberg & Co., Granite City, $176,779; and Frum-Colson, St. Louis, $225,379.

It was the second round of bidding on the project, and the Lutz and Wolfe bids were both below the state estimate.

The larger phase of the drainage relief program is expected to involve $4,225,000 in federal funds, and $375,000 has been allocated by the state.

The Doherty Slough line leading to Horseshoe Lake is to involve 8,770 feet of reinforced concrete box culvert.

Strong endorsements of the project have been given by Granite City Mayor Donald Farney, Pontoon Beach Mayor Otto O. Kreher, Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk and Venice Mayor John E. Lee.

Also vigorously backing the plan are Nameki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsett, East Side Levee Board President William M. Ersersold, the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce,

SPEECH HERE SATURDAY is to be given by U. S. Senator George McGovern, the Democratic candidate for President in next Tuesday's election. He is to talk at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in the Granite City High School gymnasium.

Appeal for Labor Vote By Candidate Expected

Senator George McGovern's visit here to speak Saturday night will put a national spotlight on the Quad-Cities.

It is a partial recap of 1968; the Democratic nominee for the No. 2 office, Senator Edmund Muskie, spoke at Granite City High School during the final pre-election week of four years ago.

Why one of the two 1972 nominees for the White House would spend the last Saturday evening of the campaign here raises several questions. This is not the most populous community in the nation, nor does Illinois have the biggest electoral vote, nor do many people believe Sen. McGovern has been an outside chance of winning this state.

Answers include that this is a heavily Democratic area, assuring a warm and enthusiastic audience, and that the Quad-City area is convenient to St. Louis, where four planeloads of campaign staffers and newsmen will be staying overnight awaiting a live national telecast Sunday.

Another key aspect may be the Democratic Presidential nominee's effort to lure members of organized labor back into the fold despite the neutrality of such leaders as AFL-CIO President George Meany and United Steelworkers President I. W. Abel.

Although he probably does not wish to intervene directly in a current grievance dispute at Granite City Steel Co., Sen. McGovern has been keeping in close contact and may emphasize Saturday night that he thinks steelworkers and other members throughout the nation ought to vote for him.

The Steelworkers' Joint Committee at the local plant has been critical of the merger a year ago of Granite City Steel and National Steel Corp., and blames former Attorney General John Mitchell of the Nixon administration for approving it. Jim Kefauver, one of the Democratic members of the United Fund campaign.

He said that as October ended, the drive stood at 68% of the goal, with most of the large contributions already in.

"I simply don't know where we're going to raise the remaining 32%," he said, "unless the citizens of this community give their responsibility and give this organization the support it deserves."

Kelly added, "We intend to have this campaign together until it is clearly over."

By that meant that drive leaders would continue to work tirelessly until all sources of money had been exhausted. No general report meeting was held this week, Kelly said, because the rate of progress no longer warrants a gathering of campaign leaders to make reports.

Kelly indicated any future general report meeting would be a final one—and it will be held only if sufficient progress is made to conclude the campaign.

"We're not giving up, however," he pointed out. "We realize that there are thousands of residents of this area who still have not been contacted directly and asked to contribute. We intend to reach them somehow."

Chairman Kelly promised that more details would be announced shortly on specific plans to contact several groups in this community.

"If such groups would only give as generously as our industrial employees and industrial firms, we'd have no trouble making the goal."

The United Fund campaign goal is $418,681—the minimum amount regarded as needed to operate the various agencies whose work is supported by the Fund.

McGovern Talk In Granite City Saturday Night

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Sen. George S. McGovern, Democratic candidate for President, will deliver a campaign address at a rally at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in the Granite City High School gymnasium.

The public is invited to attend and there will be room for a large gathering.

The speech is part of a two-day stop in the St. Louis metropolitan area, including Sen. McGovern's appearance on the nationwide "Face the Nation" television program, originating from Channel Four in St. Louis, Sunday morning.

The rally in Granite City is to be co-hosted by Walter T. "Buck" Simmons, Madison County Democratic chairman, and Leo Obernuefemann, St. Clair County Democratic chairman.

Also on the speakers' platform will be Lt. Gov. Paul

Simon, chairman of McGovern's Illinois campaign.

Many other Democratic county and state officials and candidates are being invited, a McGovern aide told the Press-Record today.

Local labor leaders also will be acknowledged during the rally. Band music will be provided.

For those who cannot find seating in the main (boys') gymnasium building additional seating will be provided in the girls' gymnasium and also outdoors, depending on the weather.

The speech will be "piped" to the crowd with a public address system.

Sen. McGovern will arrive in the St. Louis area Saturday afternoon or evening from Little Rock, Ark., after campaigning in Texas and Arkansas. Follow-

UF at Only 68% So Far

"Not nearly good enough," was the way Drive Chairman Paul H. Kelly described results to date of the current Tri-Cities United Fund campaign.

He said that as October ended, the drive stood at 68% of the goal, with most of the large contributions already in.

"I simply don't know where we're going to raise the remaining 32%," he said, "unless the citizens of this community give their responsibility and give this organization the support it deserves."

Kelly added, "We intend to have this campaign together until it is clearly over."

By that meant that drive leaders would continue to work tirelessly until all sources of money had been exhausted. No general report meeting was held this week, Kelly said, because the rate of progress no longer warrants a gathering of campaign leaders to make reports.

Kelly indicated any future general report meeting would be a final one—and it will be held only if sufficient progress is made to conclude the campaign.

"We're not giving up, however," he pointed out. "We realize that there are thousands of residents of this area who still have not been contacted directly and asked to contribute. We intend to reach them somehow."

Chairman Kelly promised that more details would be announced shortly on specific plans to contact several groups in this community.

The United Fund campaign goal is $418,681—the minimum amount regarded as needed to operate the various agencies whose work is supported by the Fund.

Political Display Ads Until 10 a.m. Friday

A 10 a.m. Friday deadline has been set for acceptance of display advertisements from election candidates for next Monday's issue, the last before the Nov. 7 balloting.

Mechanical requirements necessitate the deadline. Space will be provided for political notices of all parties and candidates received prior to the deadline of 10 a.m. tomorrow.

$400 TV SET STOLEN

A 19-inch portable color-television set valued at $400 was stolen in a burglary at the home of Larry Wood, 2814 Denver St., after 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, he reported at 9 p.m. Also taken were three six-packs of beer and a bottle of champagne. Entry apparently was gained through a basement window.

Barringer Discloses Financial Status

Dean Barringer, Democratic candidate for state comptroller, became the first state candidate to reveal both his own personal financial status and that of his campaign fund. The campaign disclosure covered the dates Jan. 1 to Oct. 31.

Barringer's total revenue was classified into three areas: dinners - $25,079, individual contributions - $21,505, and loan of $26,000.

The democratic candidate's disbursements included seven major areas: advertising - $40,430, travel and lodging - $11,377, salaries - $2,296, telephone - $6,197, postage and supplies - $1,988, miscellaneous $1,119 and contractual services - $789, leaving a fund balance of $1,407.

Barringer previously released his personal assets and liabilities including the last six years' income tax certified by a public accountant on March.

SIUE Appeals Court Order Permitting Picketing

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees has filed an appeal in the Illinois Fifth District Appellate Court in Mount Vernon of a Sept. 20 order by a Madison County judge which denied a temporary injunction against picketing a work slowdown at the University of Edwardsville campus.

Named as defendants are Cahokia District Council 58 of the Painters and Decorators Union and 10 of its members, plus Local 525 of the International Union of Operating Engineers and 22 of its members.

The appeal says the painters engaged in illegal picketing and slowdown in this case are in sympathy with the painters, refusing "to man essential equipment necessary to enable the University to function."

The strike ended Sept. 21 after six days when SIUE President John S. Rendleman announced the University would give painters responsibility for washing walls in the Peck classroom building. The strike seriously impaired University operations, halting air conditioning and bringing room temperatures to 35-degree levels which many students, faculty and staff found intolerable.

In the appeal, the University says it has "the constitutional duty to provide for an efficient system of high quality educational services. Defendants have impeded and obstructed plaintiff in the performance of its constitutional duty. The Illinois Supreme Court has repeatedly held that employees of a public school cannot strike."

"The constitutional mandate to provide public schools overrides the provisions of the anti-injunction act. The strike, picketing and slowdown in this case are illegal and contrary to public policy and the defendants should be enjoined because by their acts they have interfered with plaintiff's constitutional duty to operate the state of Illinois public university at Edwardsville."

The appeal was filed by the Alton law firm of Schaffly, Godfrey & Fitzgerald and by SIUE attorney John Paul Davis.

Venice to Call Bids for City Hall Remodeling

A call for bids for construction of an addition to the Venice City Jail and remodeling of the city hall was authorized by the Venice City Council in regular meeting Tuesday night.

Action on the bid call followed announcement of plans for the project two weeks ago when Mayor John E. Lee said the project will involve expansion of the police department quarters, a jail addition and remodeling of the city clerk's offices on the main floor.

The plan calls for moving the City Council chambers to the second floor.

Bids will be called for 2 p.m. Nov. 21 on combined proposals for general construction, heating, plumbing, air conditioning and ventilating work.

Plans and specifications are available from the office of Victor Dulgeroff, architect, 1838a Belmont Ave., the council was told.

The council also approved a program for the 1973 year. The program was presented by Sheppard, Morgan & Schwab, the city's consulting engineers.

Reply by Welch to Communication Issue

Thomas M. Welch, Republican nominee for Madison County state's attorney, this week said his opponent "has falsely charged that the lack of communication between the police and the state's attorney's office is my fault, and that I am hiding behind the present state's attorney."

He also stated flatly that he resigned as assistant state's attorney to campaign for the office at a loss of thousands of dollars.

"The facts are that I have always had excellent communication with all the police agencies, as they will attest, and I believe that this charge stems from the recent arson charges in the Alton area. Nick Bryon knows that I did not handle these cases because he has asked me twice about them," Welch said.

"With regard to his resigning as an assistant state's attorney, he did this specifically in order to avoid the possibility of a hot issue coming up in the months just before the election."

"Further, he was in the office at the time of the fire and if he was the top-notch, experienced man that he claims, where was he?"

"He has been campaigning for at least two years prior to his nomination and during that time never concerned himself with the avalanche of cases on the magistrate level, nor with the family court problems, nor with the juvenile cases, nor with legal advice to the county board and other county officials for whom the state's attorney's office is the legal adviser."

"He even refused to respond to police calls in the night in Edwardsville, where he resides. He avoided all controversy and hand-picked his cases and, even so, lost a lot here of them."

Crackling Dome Irking At Religious Center

MIKE KEPPLER who will be guest speaker Friday evening at a Youth Rally at the First Baptist Church, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue. He is pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, Peoria, Ill. Services are set for 7:30 and 10 p.m.

Sound cracking noises on sunny days that have distracted persons attending Sunday services, weddings, meetings and other events in the Religious Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville may have been eliminated.

The privately financed Religious Center was designed by R. Buckminster Fuller, SIU professor and internationally known architect—philosopher.

The earth's oceans and continents are outlined on the center's plexiglass geodesic dome "as they would be seen by x-ray if one descended by elevator from Edwardsville to the center of the real earth," Fuller has said.

But the attention—getting dome is the cause of the crackling noises, noises, according to the Rev. James Shortal, one of six campus ministers with an office in the center.

"When there is rapid heating or cooling because of the weather, the plexiglass expands or contracts more rapidly than its aluminum supports," Father Shortal said. "Some of the time it isn't bothersome, but it can get awfully noisy."

Father Shortal said several attempts to eliminate the noise have been unsuccessful, but the most recent attempt may work.

Workers have put teflon tape around each section of plexiglass. Whether the tape will solve the problem will be known only after several sunny days.

The noise apparently did not concern Fuller when he was told of it.

"He said the crackling was good—it shows the building is alive," said a Religious Center spokesman.

SIUE to Co-Sponsor Delinquency Program

Alternatives to incarceration of youth will be the theme of a national symposium Nov. 14-17 in Hot Springs, Ark. The Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is one of the sponsors.

James Reidelberger, former chief probation officer in Madison County and now on the staff of the SIUE Center, said about 750 persons from 30 states are expected to attend. A similar symposium was held last year in Hot Springs and generated so much interest that it has become an annual event, Reidelberger said.

In addition to Reidelberger, SIUE center staff attending will be Thomas Hughes, director of SIUE's national training program for detention home personnel; James Stein, who came to the university after working in the Hawaii prison system; Nicholas Reuterman, with a Ph.D. in sociology and experience in youth services planning in Colorado; James Jacobson, a minister who directed a center for delinquents in Minnesota; Robert Gilland, director of the SIUE center.

Other SIUE faculty participating will be William Mermis, professor of counselor education, and David Kohfeld, professor of psychology, who will moderate panels on group homes as alternatives to incarceration.

Reidelberger said other panels conducted by nationally recognized consultants will discuss alternatives such as youth service bureaus, improved probation services, community-based volunteers and working with parents of delinquents.

Reidelberger said persons wanting to register for the symposium should contact the Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center at SIUE.

Assessor Crews Measuring All GC Real Estate

Preparation of individual assessment records on all parcels of real estate in Granite City township was begun yesterday by the Madison County office of the Supervisor of Assessments.

From eight to 12 crews, each consisting of two to three deputy assessors, will inspect each of the real estate parcels in the township and take exterior measurements of each house or business building, a spokesman at the assessment office said.

The work is expected to take about three months for completion.

All crew members will be given credentials and will inform the homeowner or business owner that the measurements are to be taken.

The assessment office said a separate card will be prepared on each parcel of real estate, containing measurements and type of construction, to aid in making adjustments of real estate property.

Similar work has been conducted throughout Madison County since the Supervisor of Assessments office was created in 1970. The field survey has been completed in Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau Townships.

SIUE Staff Dedicated to Children With Problems

"Advocates for children with problems" is the way Thomas Shea, coordinator of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Special Education Center, describes his staff.

Center personnel, including dozens of SIUE students preparing for careers in special education, help children ages 3 through 14 with behavior disorders, learning disabilities, and other problems. Many children are referred to the center by school districts lacking highly trained teachers or specialized facilities.

Other children are referred by their parents, pediatricians or psychologists. All services are offered by the University at no cost.

"We're interested in kids with problems, kids in trouble, especially kids who nobody else will help," said Shea, who earned a doctorate in special education from Boston University and directed a school for emotionally disturbed children at SIUE at Carbondale before joining the SIUE faculty in 1970.

The center was established as a public service facility for this region after a study indicated less than 10% of the maladjusted children in Madison and St. Clair counties were receiving special education. The center also serves the southern portion of Macoupin County.

Time Off-Campus

Staff members such as Pat Long and Jerry Stultz spend much of their time off-campus in the field. Miss Long is a pre-school teacher; Stultz operates the resource program for children 7 years old and up having specific problems with academics or adjustment.

Stultz goes to the home of a 10-year-old boy and stays about 7:30 to help the youth overcome his fear of leaving home and going to school.

"When the boy was referred to us, he had attended school a total of 10 days out of nine months," Stultz said. "He became frightened about being away from home and got hysterical when it was time to leave for school, so it was easier for his parents not to send him at all."

After a while at the Special Education Center, he came to love it and attended every day. "We decided a few several months" to send him back to school—he attended four days without incident, then started the hysteria again. So I go to his home and try to induce him to attend school by overcoming his fear."

Miss Long said some of the field work is with parents, to "inform them of their rights." She said when a child is classified as "exceptional," the state and the child's school district are obligated by law to pay transportation costs to the Special Education Center or some other special facility. But, Miss Long said, some parents are never told of the obligation by the state or school officials.

Referred by District

Shea said he spends about half his time in the field. He told of a recent case of a boy who had been at the center six months after being referred by a school district which said it could not handle the child.

"We worked with the boy, gave him lots of individual attention, and sent him back to the school in good shape," Shea said. "A month later the school wanted to get him out as unmanageable. We heard about it, went to the school and talked to the principal, who finally agreed to make special provisions for the child and keep him in school."

Another teacher, Rosemary Egan, had been working with a pre-school girl who is autistic. Her intelligence quotient is above normal and she is active, but though she has never spoken a word. Mrs. Egan thinks with help the girl will be speaking soon.

All the teachers are assisted by SIUE students. Beginning students observe under the supervision of the professional staff. Participation experiences are provided for about 40 advanced students each year. They function as classroom aides and do some tutoring under supervision.

Shea said the students "are really devoted." Sometimes I have to get on them to attend their own University classes and not spend so much time with the kids."

During the summer the Special Education Center sponsors Camp R & R (for recreation and remediation). Though the six-week session was designed for 40 children between ages 5 and 12, Shea said enrollment last summer exceeded 70.

Also a part of the services is the Instructional Materials Center, housing several thousand items of instructional materials and equipment available to students and faculty of the SIUE special education department and area special education practitioners.

Nameoki Town Board Cites Dobrey Drainage Emergency

The Nameoki Town Board has received a letter from John Guilou, chief state waterway engineer, thanking Supervisor Louis Whitsell for providing supporting material for a report to the Division of Waterways prepared.

The report, showing that the Dobrey Slough area is in an emergency situation, was presented to the U. S. Corps of Engineers, asking it to participate in the Dobrey Slough drainage project.

The program will require $422,000 in federal funds and $375,000 in state monies to complete.

A letter from Whitsell to State Sen. Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville was read at the town board meeting, congratulating Vadalabene for his appointment to the Illinois Bicentennial Commission.

Copies of township and Madison County Board resolutions were enclosed urging that a bicentennial park be located between the present Cahokia Mounds State Park and the proposed Horseshoe Lake State Park.

Copies of the two resolutions also were sent to Cong. Melvin Price, the board was told.

Open Burning

Complaints from residents were heard against other residents not complying with open burning and other environmental laws. The board urged all residents to abide by the laws.

Those present were told that they can report violations at the township hall, 931-1200, at the county Sanitation and Pollution Department in Edwardsville, 636-0913, or at the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency office in Collinsville, 345-6220.

In response to residents' complaints on a vacant house near Courtenay Boulevard and Ball Avenue, a letter was read from Jack Clifford, county building and zoning official, informing

Driver Charged After Three-Car Accident

Terry Motes, Rantoul, Ill., was charged with driving too fast for conditions after his auto struck a parked car in the 2300 block of Ohio Avenue during the weekend.

Motes' auto struck the parked car of Allen Smith, 2303 Ohio Ave., pushing Smith's car against the parked auto of Johnny Minick, 2301 Ohio Ave.

After the collision, Motes' auto allegedly crossed the street, drove over the curbing and sidewalk and struck a concrete yard embankment.

The holder of the deed to the property that the building has been condemned and must be demolished within 60 days.

Whitsell reported that petitions from township residents urging that the county nursing home not be closed were presented by himself to the Madison County Board, and action on closing the facility was deferred.

Little Grassy Selected Environmental Landmark

Illinois' first and so far only National Environmental Education Landmark will be duly recognized and certified in a ceremony on Nov. 8.

It's Southern Illinois University's 6300-acre Little Grassy Lake Outdoor Laboratory, for 20 years an unspoiled retreat for outdoor learning as well as camping programs for handicapped kids and adults.

With the addition of the Little Grassy site and four others (in Washington, Alabama, Missouri and New Jersey), the Department of the Interior's "Landmark" registry for environmental study areas now stands at 16.

Little Grassy made the list, according to Department of the Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton, because it "possesses natural or cultural resources of outstanding significance in illustrating the American environment as it is affected by and affects modern man."

Most of the Outdoor Laboratory now lies within the Crab Orchard National Refuge but is operated by SIUE-Carbondale under a memorandum of agreement with the government.

In the past few years, emphasis has been shared by SIUE's well-known summer camps and recreation programs for the handicapped, and year-round projects and workshops aimed at doing what has now made the Laboratory a landmark.

Introducing school children to their total environment and helping them realize they're part of it.

Equipping them to be "responsible and active members of the world they are shaping and that is shaping them."

David R. Derge, president of SIUE at Carbondale, will accept the Landmark certificate from Gerry Sleiff, environmental specialist for the National Park Service's Philadelphia regional office, in the Little Grassy ceremony. They don't expect a lot of press. It'll be the day after the election.

Price Cites Increase In Pension Benefits

Cong. Melvin Price has been cited for his work on the new Black Lung Act of 1972 by the Black Lung Educational Fund, an organization dedicated to improving the health and safety of coal miners.

In a letter to Congressman Price, the organization wrote: "We of the Black Lung Educational Fund would like to express our appreciation for your work on the 1972 Black Lung Law. Because you were concerned, many Black Lung victims and their dependents will soon be receiving their just compensation."

The new law liberalizes benefit claims because of the high number of claims that initially were denied under the original law.

Price, the author of the original Coal Mine Safety Act, declared: "A principle of justice and equity is involved here. The working men and women in the coal industry must receive the benefits due them because of their potentially hazardous work."

Faces Three Charges In Two Traffic Cases

Michael A. Bazzell, 21st Rte., Mo., was named in charges after he was arrested here twice during the weekend.

He first was apprehended at Edwards Street and Nameoki Road and charged with a night-of-way violation. He was arrested again five hours later at 20th Street and Madison Avenue and charged with reckless driving and disobeying a police officer.

HITS PARKED CAR

The auto of Janice K. Wideman, 2535 E. 28th St., struck the parked car of John Farrence, 1821 Spring St., at 10th and Iowa streets, Madison, this week.

OVERHEATED FURNACE

An overheated furnace caused minor damage to the home of McKinley Smith, 1020 Market St., Venice, during the weekend.

Warriors Out for Comanche Scalps in Conference Game

Cahokia High School's Comanches, fresh from their first victory of the season, a 38-14 romp over Quincy CBC, may field a revitalized football team when they host Granite City's Warriors at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in a Southwestern Conference game.

The successful effort came last week following six straight defeats and gave Comanche Coach Larry Betz some hope of salvaging the rest of the season.

Betz is in his second year as head mentor after spending five years as the assistant grid coach at Cahokia where he was graduated in 1960.

In their first six games, the Comanches scored only one touchdown in a 7-6 loss to Belleville East.

Cahokia has lost to Jefferson City, Mo., 35-0, East St. Louis 36-0, Alton 18-0 and Belleville West 42-0.

The Warriors defeated the Comanches last week 19-6. Cahokia may be without the services Saturday of their top player, Gary Kaharban, 6-6, 190 senior halfback who hurt his ankle last week against CBC after gaining 140 yards.

Another Cahokia halfback, Charles Chapman, 6-1, 180 senior, gained 120 yards in 10 plays last week and, according to Betz, the Comanche offense is beginning to come around.

The top men in the Cahokia defense are, according to Betz, Kevin Bergman, 6-3, 280 senior tackle; Mistery Bailey, 6-2, 190 senior end; and Ralph Buck, 5-10, 150 senior wing back who intercepted two passes last week.

"We play what you might call a wishbone, but it really is more a straight T offense," Betz said. "On defense we have been using a 50 monster."

"I saw Granite City play East St. Louis and need to say I was very impressed with them. Thanks to their finally winning a game our players have come to life again, and if their spirit continues we may just surprise everyone Saturday."

GC Griddler Hurt said for the rest of the season, "Warrior Coach, Wayne Williams lamented, 'He has a bruised achilles tendon and it takes a long time to heal.'"

"Kevin Hollis will be back in action but Rick Bohnenstiel is a doubtful starter against Cahokia.

"Cahokia is a much improved club. They have proven that in their last two games when they almost beat Belleville East. East was down 6-0 until the last six minutes of the game when they managed to score. Last week Cahokia beat Quincy CBC which has a good club."

"This is their homecoming game and they would like nothing better than to pull a major upset by beating us."

Remain on Guard
"Everyone on our team will have to guard against over confidence. Our loss to O'Fallon and Collinsville were due in part to our players being over confident and I would hate to think it might happen again."

"We have fought our way back up into the thick of the Southwestern Conference race and it has been an uphill fight. We have to be mentally ready to play our best every time we take the field. We are not strong enough to be halfway about anything."

"Mark Winfield will be at the quarterback position. He did an exceptional job last week. I anticipate no changes in the lineup Saturday."

Trojans Find New Life, to Meet Francis Borgia Friday

The Madison High School Trojans, excited with the taste of victory, take to the road Friday to face St. Francis Borgia at Washington, Mo. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Trojan gridgers have a 2-5 record and Borgia is 5-3. According to Coach Harold Flanagan, this is not a good season for the Borgia Knights as last year they were 8-1-1.

The Knights will have their regular line up, as no one is injured. Madison is still waiting for the return of two defensive ends, Darrell Franklin, who has been out with an injured arm, and Ken Bradley, who has a bruised hip.

10 Lettermen
The Knights have the services of 10 returning lettermen. The name of the game for the Trojans Friday will be to stop Andy Martin 5-11, 200 senior who plays defensive linebacker and tackle. In the Knights last game Martin made 18 tackles.

Borgia has three juniors who are beginning to tell into an effective backfield. Halfback Steve Dennis 5-9, 170, and fullback Ken Boland 5-10, 175, are both very good runners, according to Flanagan, and their quarterback Mark Zoellner 5-10, 160 has developed into an accurate passer. Top receiver for the Knights is their right end, Kirk Marquart, 6-1, 180 senior.

This will be the first time MHS has played St. Francis Borgia which has an enrollment of 435.

Best Played Game
"The first half of our game last week was the best played ball game I have seen since I have been at Madison," Al Vander Har MHS mentor, said.

"The team played together and no one was trying to impress anyone else. I think we have eliminated the individuals that did not really want to play ball."

"We made some changes in the line up last week and if the team plays Friday like they did against Francis Howell, we will be in the ball game all the way."

"That was the first game this year that we did not have over 100 yards of penalties called against us. Some of the players are still picking up wrong and we are still sticking up too many penalty calls, but we're improving."

Changes in the lineup that resulted in the Trojan victory were Robin Pritchard, moved from defensive tackle to defensive end; Kevin Ditch, a sophomore, off the injured list to defensive tackle; Paul Thompson, from injured list to center; Ivan Simms, from an operation to offensive tackle; Jeff Stanley, from defensive end to wing back on offense.

Trojan Charlie Johnson who was playing in the wing back slot was moved to running back and against Francis Howell he ran 188 of the Trojans 300 ground yards and intercepted two enemy passes.

Borgia's style of play varies as the team will use on offense a pro-set with a flanker and also use a split end. Defensively the Knights use a 3-4 or a 4-2.

"That was the first game this year that we did not have over 100 yards of penalties called against us. Some of the players are still picking up wrong and we are still sticking up too many

Next Step for GCHS Is Sectional Saturday

Only one step remains for the Granite City High School soccer team to qualify for the first state soccer meet in Illinois history.

At 11 a.m. Saturday the Warriors will square off against Jacksonville in the Jacksonville sectional tournament, with the winner advancing directly to the state finals at Illinois State University, Normal, Nov. 10 and 11.

The Warriors face a little good luck going into the Jacksonville Tournament with a prospect for a little bad luck on the other side. The good luck is that only the two teams are entered at Jacksonville as compared to four teams in the other two sections at Evanston and Wheaton. The bad luck for the winner Saturday is that the champion at Jacksonville will meet the winner of the rugged Chicago Public High Schools Athletic Association city tournament which pitted the top soccer teams in that city.

The Wheaton and Evanston sectional champions will play in the first state game with the Jacksonville and Chicago champs in the second game.

The last Warrior regular season game of the year was set for today as the St. Dominic junior varsity and varsity squads were to take on Granite City at 4 p.m. in Wilson Park.

GC Police Win Trophies in Shooting Match

Granite City police officers competed with 63 county-wide law enforcement officers and security guards in the seasons final monthly pistol match sponsored by Olin security guards on their covered 30-point firing range.

The course consists of 30 rounds—slow, timed and rapid fire—at 25 yards and is known as the "Little Camp Perry Course," with a possible score of 300 points.

Firing on a hazy day, punctuated with periodic wind blasts, Sgt. Gerald Pinkerton fired a 774 to capture first place in the "Class A" Division, using his Colt officers match model revolver with a six-inch barrel and firing factory loaded wadcuter ammunition. He also won first-place trophies in slow time and rapid fire matches.

Taking first place in the "Class D" Division was Officer Dennis Joyce firing a 227, using his 357 Smith & Wesson magnum, modified el 19, with a four-inch barrel. He also chose factory loaded wadcutters for his ammunition.

Other officers competing were James Lengel 249, Assistant Chief George Teller 246, Glenn Wright 214, Donald Knight 194 and Roy Koberna 193.

Grigsby Team Ends Season With Win

The eighth grade gridders from Grigsby Junior High School wound up their season Tuesday with a 26-8 victory over Webster of Collinsville. Mickey Smith, a Grigsby half-back, scored two touchdowns, while Bruce Jateff and Jim Simpson accounted for two more.

Under the leadership of Coach Dwayne Chaney, the team had a 4-1 record.

Cougar Kickers Hope To End Bills' Nemesis

The law of averages would appear to be working for the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer team. At least one would think so when considering the Cougar's game at 2:30 p.m. Sunday with the St. Louis University Bills at Busch Stadium.

Five times now, in the past three seasons, the young Cougars have come so very close to defeating the mighty Bills. First, there was SIUE's initial appearance in the NCAA Midwest regional tournament in 1969. That time, after two periods without a score, the Bills turned back SIUE, 4-0.

In regular season play, the first time SIUE was on the Bills' schedule, in 1970, again the Bills walked the Cougars, 3-1. But, the same year in the finals of the Midwest NCAA regionals, the Cougars appeared to have it wrapped up, 1-0, with about seven minutes remaining, when again the Bills' hex over Bob Guier's charges took hold.

After that victory over the Cougars, the Bills went on to win the national title by defeating UCLA 1-0.

In regular season play in 1971, the Cougars had another 1-0 lead with less than seven minutes to go. And it happened again. The Bills rallied and won it 2-1. In the '71 Midwest NCAA regional final, it was the Bills and Cougars again. And Coach Harry-Kough's Bills prevailed again, 3-1.

For Guier, who came to SIUE after eight years as head soccer coach at St. Louis University and five national championships, the past three seasons have been frustrating. His only comment now is "We'll be ready."

General admission tickets for the public fun to be held at 12:30 p.m. Sunday's game. Ticket outlets include SIUE's intramural office in the basement of Lovjoy Library; the SIUE ticket office in the University Center; and Fleishman's Men's Store, Granite City.

General admission tickets at the stadium will be $3. Since it is SIUE's home game, SIUE students will be admitted free with their identity cards. SIUE students will be admitted at stadium prices of four and six. St. Louis University students, who can buy their tickets for $1 with their identity cards, will enter through gates two and seven.

Fans who have bought team tickets are being asked to use gate two.

The Alton High School Marching 100 Band will entertain before the game and at half time.

Amsted Raises Its Dividend To 60 Cents

Amsted Industries increased its quarterly dividend at a board of directors meeting Tuesday in Chicago. A dividend of 60 cents per share was declared payable on Dec. 15 to stockholders of record as of the close of business on Nov. 20. The firm owns the American Steel Foundries plant in Granite City.

Amsted earnings were up about 20% in the year ended Sept. 30, 1972, on an 11% increase in sales, it was announced Tuesday.

Net income amounted to $12,200,000, or $4.11 per share, compared to $9,000,000, or $3.41 per share, a year ago. Sales were a record $396,200,000, up from $276,000,000 in 1971.

Joseph B. Lanterman, chairman, and Goff Smith, president, said, "In addition to higher sales, several other factors had a favorable impact on earnings this year."

These included a decline in metal scrap prices, a major raw material used by the company's foundry plants, reinstatement of the investment tax credit and improvement in operations of the cast iron pressure pipe plant in Florence, N.J.

Net income in the first six months of the fiscal year amounted to $3,623,000, an increase of $928,000 over the same period a year ago. This was accomplished despite a disappointing second quarter.

Sales volume increased significantly in the last half of the year, reflecting the seasonal demand for iron and clay pipe used for water and waste transmission.

Earnings in the final six months rose to $5,577,000, the highest ever achieved in a six-month period, and were above the comparable prior year period by $1,872,000.

Sharp sales gains in the year for both construction and general industrial products accounted for the record volume.

Sales in these two product categories increased $38,600,000 to a new high of $201,600,000, or 60% of total sales. This improvement was partially offset by a $9,000,000 decline in railroad product sales.

The quarterly dividend payment was increased from 40 cents to 60 cents per share in March 1972, reflecting the higher earnings. Dividends of $1.50 per share, totaling $5,249,000, were paid to stockholders in fiscal 1972 as compared to $4,968,000, or $1.80 per share, in 1971.

Lanterman and Smith said that on the basis of present plans, expenditures for plant additions in 1973, excluding acquisitions, will be about $12,000,000.

He will depart from the Misawa Air Force Base, fly to a southern seaport and then board the U.S.S. Puffer nuclear submarine.

The tour of duty will extend three months. Bess enlisted in the Navy in 1950 after graduating from Assumption High School.

He received his Naval Security rating at Pensacola, Fla., and was accepted in the Security Group Activity. He was aboard the destroyer escort ship, U.S.S. Perry, for two months duty in May and June.

After returning to Misawa, Bess will attend the summer festival at Sapporo, Japan; he had viewed the winter Olympic games there last February.

Bess will complete his two years of overseas duty and have a leave with his family in August 1973 before being assigned to a new base.

Some County Employees May Get Pay Raises

Madison County government employees considered to be underpaid may receive salary increases under the new county budget, according to recommendations accepted by the Finance Committee of the Madison County Board this week.

In a session with the board's Personnel Committee, the budget-makers reviewed a personnel study by the Alton accounting firm of R. C. Scheffel and Associates which showed that 207 county employees, of 470 included in the study, are not making as much money as recommended for their job classifications.

It was recommended that the board grant raises to the underpaid employees equal to 75% of the difference between their current pay and what they should be making, according to federal wage-price guidelines. More committees also decided that employees shown to be overpaid be kept at their present levels.

Pay raises in the classification study were based on U. S. Department of Labor statistics, information from the Illinois Urban League and area industrial pay rates.

Salary increases would take effect on the anniversary date of employment, according to the recommendation, but will be contingent on the outcome of the budget to be adopted at the board's Nov. 22 meeting.

Loman-Kindle Wedding at St. Elizabeth Church

Miss Cynthia Anne Kindle and Thomas Edward Loman exchanged wedding vows at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 20 at St. Elizabeth Roman Catholic Church.

The Rev. Lawrence Mattingly, officiated at the candlelight double ring service before an altar adorned with bouquets of yellow and white mums and a greenery. Lighted candles in lamps illuminated the aisle for the bride procession.

Miss Phyllis Talley presided at the organ and played the theme from "Romeo and Juliet." Miss Vicki Mercer sang "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face," "The Wedding Song" and "Never My Love," accompanied by Larry Smallie and John Grindstaff on guitars.

Parents of the bride couple are Mr. and Mrs. Philip Kindle, 38212 Village Apartments and Mr. and Mrs. Barry Loman, 56 Janday Lane.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an exquisite gown fashioned of ivory peau de soie, featuring an Empire bodice appliqued with imported Alencon lace. Lace appliques were repeated on the long slim sleeves, cuffed with delicate ruffles, and scattered at random on the skirt.

A ruffled V neckline was accented with tiny covered buttons to the waistline and a deep border of scalloped Alencon lace edged the hem of the slightly full skirt, terminating in a full chapel train.

She wore a lace covered camelot cap to secure the long chapel length mantilla veil of imported bride illusion, trimmed with matching lace. Her bouquet was composed of yellow and pale orange roses interspersed with ivy, pom poms and baby breath.

Miss Janet Lambert, maid of honor and Miss Connie Kindle, a sister of the bride, Mrs. Carol Peto, the groom's sister, Miss Lana Lupardus, bridesmaids, were gowned alike in moss green velvet dresses. The junior bridesmaid, Miss Colleen Kindle, was attired in a yellow and moss green frock.

Their gowns were designed with a velvet Empire bodices, featuring high stand up collars and long puffed sleeves of corded organza. Slightly gathered skirts of corded organza, full length were worn over tulle.

Each attendant wore a matching velvet bow headpiece holding in place a brilliant mainline veil and carried a single yellow rose with matching streamers.

The groom chose Rick Golden as best man. Steve Golden, Warren Peto, the groom's brother-in-law, Jimmy Anastasoff, Don Rooney and Skip Herick completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception given at Augustine's Restaurant in Belleville.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Loman in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Kirchoff, Vicky Harris a cousin of the bride, presided over the guest book.

Mrs. Kindle chose a full length pale pink gown of silk crepe made in an Empire style with a V neckline and long sleeves enhanced with beaded cuffs.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Loman, selected a candy pink frock created of chiffon and fashioned along chemise lines. Both mothers wore accessories in matching shades and carried pink orchids on their purses.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Loman are graduates of Granite City High School. She is employed by Metropolitan Insurance Co. Her husband works for Gateway Drywall.

The newlyweds are residing in Granite City after a wedding trip to the Lodge of the Four Seasons in the Ozarks of Missouri.

Out-of-town guests attending the ceremony included Mr. and Mrs. William E. Piese of Joliet, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. William Evans, Wood River, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Gibson, Springfield and Mrs. Teima O'Dell, Kansas City, Kan.

'Witchcraft' at Work for Pupils

The Middle Primary Class, taught by Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards at Niedringhaus School, enjoyed an unusual Halloween party Tuesday, which included a seasonal story and a "witchcraft" ceremony.

After hearing the fairytale of the "Old Black Witch," the children followed an example cited in the story and made "bewitching blueberry pan-cakes" in the classroom.

Recreating the witch's task in the story, the students repeated magic words as the pancake batter was stirred with wands disappeared in the same wooden spoons and the ingredients were served, the teacher explained.

Inaugural Tour Prize For Best Vote Guess

Those with crystal ball perception who can come up with the "closest total Illinois vote to be cast in next Tuesday's Presidential election" may earn a free trip to Washington, according to Wayman Presley, president and founder of Presley Tours, Makanda, Ill.

"Make your guess only if you are a registered voter," Presley said. "Then send your prediction, name and address to us."

To assist those not up on state voting habits, the World Almanac notes 4,619,749 Illinois voters cast ballots in the 1968 Presidential election.

To qualify, all contestants must have their entry postmarked not later than midnight Monday, Nov. 6. Award will be made following verification of voter's registration. In case of tie, earliest postmark will be deciding factor.

Presley said this is the fourth inaugural train his family-owned tour facility has scheduled, the current special slated to leave St. Louis Jan. 18.

City Temple Scene of Walker-Nolen Wedding

Miss Kathleen Diane Nolen and Harold L. Walker exchanged wedding vows in an early evening ceremony on Oct. 27 at the City Temple Assembly of God Church.

The couple stood within an arch trimmed with greenery and flanked with arrangements of white pom poms as the Rev. Henry Crippen performed the double ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Eugene Cope.

Mrs. Janice Morgan sang The Lord's Prayer, "We've Only Just Begun" and "Love Story," accompanied by Mrs. Virgie Collins at the organ.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Lynn Nolen, 2821 Pershing Ave., and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Walker, reside at 2241 Woodland Ave.

Mrs. Nolen escorted her daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She chose a formal length bridal gown, created in white crepe with an Empire bodice and A-line skirt. A delicate lace trim edged the high collar and the cuffs of the long puff sleeves and defined the high rise waistline.

A forward headpiece fashioned with a satin rose and petals, etched with rhinestones, secured her shoulder-length bouffant veil of bridal illusion and she carried a bouquet of yellow-centered daisies.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Judy

Kircher, a cousin of the bride, wore a blue lace A-line style gown designed with a fitted bodice and puffed sleeves. Her bouquet was made up of blue tipped daisies.

Attending the groom as best man was Gary King, his cousin. Seating the guests were Kenneth, a brother of the bride, and Edward Walker, a nephew of the groom.

Becky and Donna Nolen, cousins of the bride, attended the guest book at a reception given in the church annex following the service.

Mrs. Nolen, mother of the bride, was attired in an apricot double knit dress with long sleeves, complemented with brown accessories. She wore an apricot carnation corsage.

The groom's mother chose a deep purple knit dress with black accessories and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Walker are graduates of Granite City High School. The former Miss Nolen is employed at Hartford Steam Boiler Co., Clayton, Mo. Her husband works at an Alton plant.

They are residing in Granite City.

MRS. VIRGINIA CARROLL UNDERGOES SURGERY

Impact of Steel Anti-Pollution Costs Studied

A steel industry spokesman has taken sharp issue with the Environmental Protection Agency over its interpretation of the results of a government-sponsored study of the economic impact of pollution abatement on the steel industry.

"Contrary to the interpretation by the EPA, the study prepared by Booz, Allen & Hamilton clearly demonstrates that the steel industry would suffer severe financial hardship in meeting the presently projected environmental control requirements through 1976," John P. Roche, president, American Iron and Steel Institute, said.

Roche continued, "I am surprised that the EPA chose to completely ignore three of the four combinations of circumstances studied, all of which cause Booz, Allen to adjudge the steel industry to be financially unable to afford the prospective pollution abatement costs."

"Booz, Allen estimated that the industry's insufficiency of funds, after using all internally generated funds plus borrowing to its debt limit, would range between $800 million and $2 billion between now and 1976."

"Unlikely Circumstances. 'The report sets forth only one highly unlikely combination of circumstances,' said Roche, 'under which the financing of abatement expenditures should prove feasible. This set of it's comprised the following:'

"If between now and 1976 the steel industry does not have to pay for any other legislated cost increases (such as for safety and health expenses; increased federal, state or local taxes; or higher social security or legislated pension costs);

"If no steel industry facilities have to be shut down and replaced prematurely as a result of pollution control requirements;

"If steel companies limit their capital expenditures solely to pollution abatement and to replacing plant and equipment as it wears out—that is, if they spend absolutely nothing to expand their productive capabilities;

"If steel companies are able to achieve price increases of 4.3% per year between now and 1976, and if such increases fully cover all cost increases net of productivity gains;

"If the domestic steel industry used for pollution abatement purposes all of its internally available funds (after normal facility replacements and maintaining stockholders' dividends at present dollar levels); and

"If additional borrowings of $800 million were made, putting the industry at what the report viewed as its absolute debt ceiling.

"Even if this combination of circumstances should actually occur," Roche said, "for the industry to afford the required expenditures for abatement, it would still be necessary for the steel industry by 1976 to be earning more than double its 1971 profits. We are pleased to see such an earnings projection in the Booz, Allen study."

Rather than relying on the EPA interpretation of the report, Roche urged all interested parties to obtain a copy of the full report and to study it independently.

Copies may be obtained from the National Technical Information Service, U. S. Department of Commerce, Springfield, Va. 22151.

Venice Man Charged After Police Chase

Carroll F. Wallace, 26, of 611 Fillmore St., Venice, was charged with speeding and disorderly conduct after Venice police reportedly chased his auto through Venice during the weekend.

HOME BURGLARIZED

Wanda Robinson, 109½ Mercedia St., Venice, reported entry of her home this week. She had been gone from her home five minutes and, when she returned, the front door was open. Taken were a television set, a tape recorder and a diamond wrist watch. Entry was gained by breaking the glass in a door.

Re-Elect Hard-Working, Effective Senator Vadala

State Senator Sam Vadala, 58, Edwardsville Democrat, is strongly endorsed for re-election in recognition of his skillful and tireless legislative efforts. His General Assembly experience includes not only two years as a senator but four years as a state representative.

Winner of "outstanding citizen" and "outstanding legislator" awards, Senator Sam works intelligently, unselfishly, unceasingly and effectively. His areas of special expertise include appropriations, mental health, youth, county-township affairs, agriculture, recreation and consumer borrowing.

Because he "does his homework" and has a knack for securing passage of his proposals, he has been the sponsor or cosponsor of many laws of benefit to the 56th District. Current examples include legislation and governor-approved bills relating to health, compensation, sanitation, education, incineration, drainage, arts, safety, fire-fighting and revenue.

Representatives Calvo, Kennedy, Walters Endorsed

For the three positions as state representatives of the 56th District, the Press-Record endorses the three incumbents, Horacio L. Calvo, 45, Granite City Democrat, Leland J. Kennedy, 63, Alton Democrat, and Robert J. Walters, 41, Alton Republican.

Four are seeking the three posts. The other candidate, Mrs. Phyllis Walker, 35, a Moro Republican, is a teacher and formerly was a clerk in the state driver license division.

In addition to the advantages of their past service in the Illinois General

A Lasting Peace and Prosperity Without Inflation

May Be Possible If President Nixon Is Re-Elected

The path to the "generation of peace" envisioned by President Richard M. Nixon has not been as short or simple as most people had hoped, but he has guided America along it in a way that gives real hope of a peace that will endure.

The goal of economic growth without a disastrous level of income-robbing inflation has not proved to be easy to achieve, but the President has made visible progress in this direction.

The objective of domestic tranquility and justice, requiring sharing of total fulfillment but seems much closer than was the case four years ago, when Mr. Nixon began to apply his firm hand and sound judgment to the tiller of our storm-tossed ship of state.

His specific achievements include: Improved relations with the Communist world.

The FORUM

FEARS MCGOVERN WOULD

ABANDON HIS PROMISES

To the Editor:

I am a Democrat, my parents are Democrats and my grandparents were Democrats. However, I, like many of my fellow Democrats, support President Nixon's re-election.

Sen. George McGovern has charged that Democrats who support Nixon do so to receive special favors for their ill investments.

As I am a working-class union member without oil wells or oil stock, as the great majority of disaffected Democrats are, this theory doesn't hold water.

In 1968, George McGovern abandoned the Democratic party for "Henry Wallace's third party" and then abandoned Henry Wallace.

At this year's Democratic convention, he threatened to abandon the party again if he did not receive the nomination.

Later, after supporting Sen. Tom Eagleton vice-presidential pick, he abandoned him as his vice-presidential candidate.

The campaign of "strictly is" that he launched was abandoned when he compared the President with Hitler.

He also abandoned his proposed gift of $1,000 to every man, woman and child when it was found to be unpopular.

McGovern abandoned all working men with his stand on right-to-work laws, but now says that he would end the war in Vietnam without any guarantee that our P.O.W.s would not be abandoned.

You may say that I support President Nixon because I am afraid that Sen. McGovern will support me with his proven abandonment.

Majority Must Rule, Not an Elite; Limitation on Prices Enables Everyone's Living Standard to Rise

Remarks by President Nixon on the philosophy of majority rule

Every politician since Jefferson's time pays lip service to the consent of the governed, along with "majority rule" and "the will of the people."

But the truth is that a great many people in politics and elsewhere believe that the people just do not know what is good for them. Putting it bluntly, they have more faith in government than they have in people.

They believe that the only way to achieve what they consider social justice is to place power in the hands of a strong central government which will do what they think has to be done, no matter what the majority thinks.

To them, the will of the people is the "prejudice of the masses."

They deride anyone who wants to respond to that will of the people as "pandering to the crowd."

A decent respect for the practice of majority rule is automatically denounced as political expediency.

When a man sees more and more of the money earned taken away by government taxation, and objects to that, I don't think that I am right to charge him with selfishness, with not caring about the poor and the dependent.

When a mother sees her child taken away from a neighborhood school and transported miles away, and she objects to that, I don't think it's right to charge her with bigotry.

When young people apply for jobs in politics or in industry—and find the door closed because they don't fit into some numerical quota, despite the fact that I don't think it's right to condemn those young people as insensitive or racist.

Of course, some people oppose income redistribution and busing for the wrong reasons. But they are by no means the majority of Americans, who oppose them for the right reasons.

It is time that good, decent people stopped letting themselves be bulldozed by anyone who presumes to be the self-righteous moral judge of our society.

There is no reason to feel guilty about wanting to enjoy what you get and want your children in good schools—good schools that want to be judged fairly on your ability.

Those are not values to be ashamed of. Those are values that I shall always stand up for when they come under attack.

We will change America for the better by attacking our real problems, and not by attacking our basic values.

We will improve the quality of our public dialogue by respecting, not impugning, the motives of the people who are winning candidates who ultimately represent.

The rights of each minority must be vigorously defended. But the majority must be protected in the opportunity to have its opinion become accepted as the majority view.

But on these basic concerns, the majority view must prevail, and leadership in a democracy is required to respond to that view.

That is what "majority rule" and "the consent of the governed" really means—and we would all do well to take these ideas seriously.

We have achieved a high level of leadership throughout our history because we have put aside the notion of a "leadership class."

The advantage of a superior education should result in a deep respect for—and a reverence for—the value judgments of the average person.

Does this mean that a President should read all the public opinion polls before he acts, and then follow the opinion of the majority down the line? Of course not.

A leader must be willing to take unpopular stands when they are necessary.

But a leader who insists on imposing on the people his own idea of how they should live their lives—when those ideas are directly contrary to the values of the people themselves—does not understand the role of a leader in a democracy.

And when he does find it necessary to take an unpopular stand, he has an obligation to explain to the people, solicit their support and win their approval.

Let me cite an example: In every Presidency there are moments when success or failure seems to hang in the balance. When an expression of confidence by the American people is vitally important.

One of those moments came toward the end of my first year in office. I had declared that we were going to end our involvement in the war in Vietnam with honor.

I had made it plain that we fully understood the difference between settlement and surrender.

As you may recall, the organized wrath of thousands of vocal demonstrators wondered whether we would witness what they referred to as "the breaking of the President."

set of principles that is deep in the American spirit.

The new American majority believes that each person should have more of a say in how he spends his paycheck, how he brings up his children.

The new American majority believes in taking better care of those who truly cannot care for themselves, so that they can lead lives of dignity and self-respect.

The new American majority believes in taking a national defense second to none, so that America can help bring about a generation of peace.

And the new American majority believes in a national defense second to none, so that America can help bring about a generation of peace.

These are not the beliefs of selfish people.

On the contrary, they are the beliefs of a generous and selfless people, a people of intellect and character, whose values deserve respect in every segment of our population.

'Be Nice to Everyone and Grow A Pumpkin Patch That's Sincere...'

Is Charlie Brown's friend, Linus, the only one who gets Halloween confused with Christmas? You may recall that he annually expects "The Great Pumpkin" to distribute gifts in the manner of Santa Claus.

Well, Linus is not alone. At a church party here this week, the group sang to the tunes of Christmas carols but the words conveyed a different meaning.

One of the clever parodies was "The 12 Days of Halloween."

"On the twelfth day of Halloween, my true love gave me 12 bats a-flying. It makes a-leaving, 10 ghosts a-graining, nine ghouls a-booming, eight monsters shrieking, seven pumpkins glowing, six goblins gobbling, five scary spooks, four skeletons, three black cats, two trick-or-treaters and owl in a dead tree."

"Pumpkin Bells" dashed through the streets with our costumes bright and gay. To each house we go, laughing all the way.

Halloween is here, making spirits bright. What fun it is to trick-or-treat and sing pumpkin songs tonight.

Oh, pumpkin bells, pumpkin bells, ringing loud and clear. Oh, what fun Great Pumpkin brings when Halloween is here."

There also were numbers like "Deck the Patch" and "I'm Dreaming of the Great Pumpkin" which, concluding, "May your jack-o-lanterns burn bright when the Great Pumpkin visits you tonight."

They then sang "I Heard the Bells on Halloween" with its message, "... and wild and sweet the words repeat, 'pumpkin season's here again.'"

We must not forget "Oh, you better not shriek; you better not groan. You better not howl; you better not moan. Great Pumpkin is coming to town."

"It's going to find out from folks that the majority deserves tricks and who deserves treats."

"He'll search in every pumpkin patch, haunted houses far and near, to see if you've been spreading gloom or bringing lots of cheer."

All of which brings us to what caught our attention in the first place.

The Halloween celebrants at Central Christian Church included among their songs "Winter Wonderland," which when translated emerged with the following words:

"Screech owl hoot, are you listening?"

"Beneath the moon, all is glittering."

"A real scary sight, we're happy tonight, waiting in a pumpkin wonderland."

"In the patch, we're waiting for Great Pumpkin. We've been waiting for this night all year."

"For we've tried to be nice to everybody and to grow a pumpkin patch that's sincere."

"Later on, while we're eating what we get, trick-or-treating, we'll share all our sacks of 'Halloween snacks'."

"Waiting in a pumpkin wonderland."

Favorable Federal Impact on Illinois from Revenue Sharing, Social Security, Clean Water Legislation

By LESTER BELL, Copy News Service

President Nixon's "great goals" package for his "new American revolution" had a significant impact on the state of Illinois in the 92nd Congress, which rushed to adjournment Oct. 18 and adjourned sine die Oct. 20.

The State of Illinois office (SIO) in Washington, monitor of Capitol Hill and the federal bureaucracy for Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie and his executive agencies, put the emphasis on revenue sharing, welfare reform and clean water.

When the 92nd Congress convened in January 1971, President Nixon proposed "six great goals" for Capitol Hill and the White House: revenue sharing, welfare reform, environmental protection, health insurance, education and full employment.

Congress cleared a general revenue sharing bill, establishing a five-year program to share $30.2 billion in federal revenues with state and local governments at an initial level of $3.5 billion. The program is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1972.

For calendar 1972, Illinois is to get $91.5 million and its local governments $18.2 million of this $5.3 billion.

Revenue sharing "will continue to be a focus of state attention," not only as an addition to state revenues, but for its potential effect on the income tax as the basis of the tax structure, the Illinois office says.

Although it is not known in Washington how the local governments will share their new revenues are expected to help equalize school support, characterized by a spokesman as "a major plus."

Welfare reform emerged from Congress as a two-to-four year test run for three projects at a cost of $400 million a year. House-Senate conferees in reconciling the bills deleted all welfare reform provisions from the Nixon-favored House bill except those federalizing federal laws, but Illinois did not abuse this as the aged, blind and disabled.

The significant change is the transfer of federal welfare funds to the federal government under Social Security.

The spokesman estimates Illinois will still have to supplement aid amounting to $25 million to $30 million.

However, the automatic receipt of Social Security checks will remove the once of state welfare for some poor recipients.

It is estimated half the Illinois' entitled to such state aid reject it because they consider it welfare.

Other significant features of federal legislation singled out by the spokesmen are the stiffening of state requirements of Medicare and Medicaid, extending institutional care—here, restricted to those over 65—to mentally ill minors, and the limiting of the amount of reimbursement for a state's social services outlays.

The latter were getting out of control because of federal laws, but Illinois did not abuse this as the aged, blind and disabled.

Congress overrode the President's veto on the federal water pollution control act amendments. He said it has an "unconscionable $24 billion price tag." The bill authorizes federal construction grants to states for waste treatment facilities.

Illinois, anticipating a large Congressional appropriation, had passed a $750 million bond issue for matching grants to its local governments.

The spokesman estimates Illinois will get about $100 million from the clean water bill, but it is obvious the state will need more to meet the clean water goals.

State interpretation of federal specifications and standards for treatment facilities is another crucial step that must be taken to implement the program.

This year's initial production by the Quonset Hut Theater at Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville, is "The Killing of Sister George." The play will be presented at 8 p.m. today through Saturday, Alissa Buss, Farmer City, is directing the Frank Marcus play.

"The Killing of Sister George" is a contemporary drama dealing with three women and how they use each other in their professional and personal lives. The main character, Miss June Buckridge (Sister George), a middle-aged radio actress, is being written out of a soap opera in which she has appeared for six years. Simultaneously she is being written out of the life of her flat mate, Alice McNaught.

Mrs. Mercy Croft, June's boss and rival for Alice, pushes the June-Alice relationship to its breaking point. Comic-relief is supplied by Madame Xenia, a friend of June's and the local clairvoyant, who runs things in a harum-scarum sort of way. Portraying roles The four-member cast includes Lois Hock of Belleville as Sister George; Diane Ackerman, Granite City, as Alice (Childie McNaught); Tracey Dunn, Edwardsville, as Mrs. Mercy Croft; and Peggy Williamson, Highland, as Madame Xenia.

Organized in the fall of 1970, the Quonset Hut Theater is student operated. There is no faculty supervision. Members of the Quonset board, all theater majors, are Miss Dunn, chairman; Miss Ackerman, secretary-treasurer; Alan Brawn, Wood River and Charles Deane Geiler, East St. Louis, technical directors; and John Vigna, Collinsville, house manager and in charge of public relations.

The Quonset board receives $100 a show from the speech and theater department, Miss Dunn said. Additional money needed for production comes from bazaar sales sponsored by the board.

The intimacy of the Quonset Hut Theater requires a different kind of designing and directing than performances for the main stage in the Communications Building. Miss Ackerman pointed out. "The sets have to be more intense and real, and directing needs to be more intimate."

"In Sister George," Miss Dunn said, "the audience may be only a foot away from the performers. The farthest away may be only 15 feet."

Miss Dunn believes the experience received in the Quonset theater is as good as the main stage. "In a Quonset production you feel more responsibility," she explained. "We are not doing these shows for credit but because we want the experience which comes from putting into practice the lessons on acting, productions and staging which we have learned in the classroom."

"We want the Quonset to get a good name and to have prestige. We want people to say we produce good shows and let them know we are not just a stepchild of the main stage."

Allows More Freedom

There is more personal involvement and more freedom in Quonset Hut Theater, the director said. "In main stage productions you always have that credit and that grade hanging over you."

Because the quonset is small, those interested in seeing the productions should call (618) 692-2775 in advance. Admission is free.

In addition to "The Killing of Sister George," a student-produced play is scheduled for December. There will be 18 student presentations during the winter and spring quarters.

Miss Dunn said, "An outgrowth of directing classes offered at that time.

A program entitled "The Sense of Hearing" was presented by Mrs. Evelyn Tolliver and Mrs. Mary Herr at a meeting of Xi Epsilon Chi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held in the home of Mrs. Herr in Florissant, Mo.

Tentative plans were made for chapter members to prepare a Christmas basket for a needy family and to attend a valentine dance, hosted by the sorority's City Council on Feb. 10. The Nov. 9 meeting will take place at SIUE, with Jerry Runkle as guest speaker. His topic will be "Women's Lib."

During the social hour, Mrs. Mac Ebling was presented with a bridal tray in honor of her 25th wedding anniversary. The hostess served refreshments to 12 members.

'KILLING OF SISTER GEORGE,' a contemporary drama of three women and the intricacies of their personal relationship, will be presented tonight through Saturday at 8 o'clock at the Quonset Hut Theater at SIUE. Discussing interpretation of their roles with director, Alissa Buss, standing, are Diane Ackerman (Alice) of Granite City, left, and Tracey Dunn, Edwardsville, who portrays Mrs. Mercy Croft. Admission is free, but reservations are requested.

Veeder was host to the meeting. He presented charters to Tim Schmidt, president of B-Q Smokers; Steve Rudolph, president of Alice, Kerry Johnson, president of American Candle Co., and Sharon Rose, head of Glasco.

Presenting charters to presidents of firms sponsored by the Illinois Power Co. was C. E. Townsend, a member of the JA board of directors. Receiving the documents were Barbara Black of Ampco, and Mary Cross of Noco.

Awarded Charters
Charters to presidents of A. O. Smith Corp., sponsored firms were presented by Paul Kelly, plant manager. Recipients were Margaret Schnefke of Camp-Ct. and Vicki Petrillo of Jaro.

Also receiving a charter was Sonia Gorman, president of Granite City Junior Achievement Bank, sponsored by First Granite City National Bank.

Prior to the presentation ceremony, Veeder told the representatives of the sponsoring companies that he appreciated the support of this year's program. "I have been and continue to be sold on Junior Achievement and I am sorry it does not have the support it deserves," he said, indicating that if more local companies would follow the examples set by the companies represented at the ceremony, Junior Achievement could serve far more students.

Hearings Set on Rules for Deposits on Containers

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield — Hearings have been set for early December of the controversial proposal to require deposit and returns on all cans and bottles for beverages sold in Illinois.

The hearings will be held Dec. 6 and Dec. 7 in the Simpson theatre of the Field Museum in Chicago, on Dec. 15 in the Savings Building, Hazen Friendship Room at 121 N. Jefferson Ave. in Peoria, and on Dec. 16 in the Chamberlain City Council chambers. All hearings are scheduled for 10 a.m.

After the public hearings are concluded, the Pollution Control Board will consider testimony heard and issue its decision.

First proposed about a year ago by the solid waste management task force of the Institute for Environmental Quality, the proposal was delayed when the first set of public hearings had to be cancelled after a court injunction was granted to a group of 14 objectors, including retailers, trade groups, labor unions and consumers.

The appellate court subsequently threw out the injunction, clearing the way for the PCB to go ahead with the hearings. Once the board acts, if it adopts the plan, objectors could then again go to court, and presumably will, to protest enforcement of the program.

Deposits Required
If adopted as originally proposed, the regulation would do away with all throw-away containers for beverages in Illinois, and would require every distributor to charge a deposit on every bottle and can of alcoholic beverage or soft drink sold. The purchaser would then be required to return them to the dealer when empty.

Dealers have protested they would be compelled to involve disproportionate amounts of time and space by having to collect deposits at time of sale, and storing the returned containers when the deposit was refunded.

Bottlers and manufacturers of containers, as well as trade unions involved in making the cans and bottles, have protested the regulation would cost jobs.

Written comments on the proposal may be sent to the hearing officer, Steven N. Klein at the Pollution Control Board's offices at 189 W. Madison St., suite 900, Chicago. Persons wishing to testify at any of the public hearings should also contact Klein there before the hearing date.

He started in Yard Maintenance and also worked as a Standard Gauge switchman before transferring to the North Plant.

Ray Rogers, formerly annealing department superintendent, had more than 22 years of service with the company. He started as cold strip annealing general foreman and was promoted to annealing superintendent in 1970. He and his wife, Geraldine, live in Edwardsville where Rogers formerly was mayor.

Strackeljah was a North Plant black warehouse wrapper after more than 44 years of service, starting in the old Open Hearth in 1928. He and his wife, Gladys, have two sons, four daughters and 10 grandchildren.

Girl Scout Troop 456 and Cub Scout Pack 107 both of Venice, which joined forces in a Project SOAR (Save Our American Resources) contest sponsored by Owens Illinois, Inc., have won second place honors in competition with Scout units from the Central Illinois area.

The projects of the two local groups included distribution of 2,000 pamphlets urging people to be ecology minded; participated in Clean Up week; distributed several thousand litter bags; distributed tree care pamphlets; planted trees around the Venice library, Lee Park and St. Marks church; cleaned up Lion's Park and Broadway; distributed litter bags at the Lewis and Clark pilgrimage; and sponsored an anti-litter poster contest in the Venice grade school.

Combined efforts of a Boy Scout Troop, Cub Scout Pack, Junior Girl Scout Troop and Brownies in Kane, Ill., won first place.

There were 69 separate entries from Scout units covering a 50-mile radius of the Owens plant in Alton.

According to a company spokesman, the contest will be an annual project as part of the company's effort to "Keep America Beautiful."

Mayors' Council to Consider Park Plan

A revised proposal for creation of a Bicentennial Park joining the Cahokia Mound State Park and the Horseshoe Lake complex will be presented to the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors in a special meeting Nov. 5.

The plan, which already has the endorsement of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, was scheduled for consideration at the regular October meeting of the mayors' council, but action was deferred until the special meeting to give officials more time to study the proposal.

The project has been outlined to Samuel A. Lilly, executive director of the Illinois Bicentennial Commission at Chicago, by James E. Williams, mayor of East St. Louis.

Williams noted in his report to Lilly that the proposal has already received approval and is supported by a coalition of agencies of the Illinois region opposite St. Louis, including Madison and St. Clair Counties, the Cahokia Mounds Society, The City of East St. Louis, Katharine Dunham's Performing Arts Center, the Horseshoe Lake Commission and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission.

Seek Federal Funds

Supporters of the park plan will seek funds for the complex as the Illinois Bicentennial Park to represent this state in observance of the nation's 200th year in 1976. The federal government will allocate funds for creation of such a park in each of the country's 50 states.

The proposal calls for acquisition of 400 acres of land between the Cahokia Mounds State Park and the Horseshoe Lake Park which now is being developed by the state, and for development of all three units so that each contributes to a multi-use park unique in this country.

"These parks would be a tremendous historical resource, an area of outdoor recreation and cultural facilities general to today's needs, all made available to the community and the nation; this would be a living, continuing resource for the future—a true monument to our nation's birth," the report asserts.

EPA Proposes Regulations For Livestock Industry

By WARREN W. BUNDY
Madison County Extension Adviser

Six tons of hay equivalent from silage, pasture, and harvested hay plus 75 bushels of corn and 250 pounds of protein supplement go into making a 600-pound choice steer carcass—more than 16,000 pounds of feed grown on 2½ acres to do the job.

A four-pound beef roast, neatly packaged and ready, is a lot so big pig. Yet into its making goes two bales of hay, a half bushel of corn, and 1½ pounds of soybean meal.

More than two years ago into making choice beef. Concentrated in one beef carcass are days of sun and rain, heat and cold, tons of hay and manure, succulent silage, bushels of corn, and 7,000 gallons of water.

The average American eats twice as much beef as he did 20 years ago. He consumed 113 pounds of beef in 1971, compared with 56 pounds in 1951, and he may be eating 130 pounds in 1980 according to Earl Butz, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Production Much Higher

Farmers and ranchers in the U.S. have increased beef production 2½ times in the last 20 years—from 8.8 billion pounds in 1951 to 21.9 billion pounds in 1971. They've done it by increasing beef cow numbers, by switching from dairy to beef animals, and by marketing more beef.

Livestock producers like to earn a good profit from their products. Consumers like to pay choice meat as cheap as possible.

Now there is another side to the above picture which will affect both producers and consumers one way or another.

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has proposed some animal waste handling regulations. Public hearings will be held at various locations and times this winter. The public will be invited to enter testimony in support of or against the regulations.

At the conclusion of the hearings, the Pollution Control Board will decide whether the regulations should be passed into law in their proposed state, passed as amended, or referred to the Institute of Environmental Quality for more research.

James F. Frank, agriculture specialist with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, submits that there is agriculture pollution in Illinois. "The agency," he says, "receives many complaints each month alleging air or water pollution caused by livestock and poultry enterprises. Most of the complaints are valid, some are not."

Since the enactment of the Environmental Protection Act in 1970, the Pollution Control Board has heard 740 variance and enforcement cases. None of those cases dealt with agriculture pollution from livestock waste.

Of the 740 cases heard, there were $550,000 worth of fines levied to the guilty parties. Not one dollar of penalty has been levied against a livestock producer, nor has any livestock producer been forced by the PCB to close down his operation, said Frank.

Proposed regulations include a permit requirement to operate existing facilities of certain size and to construct new or modify existing livestock facilities above a certain size. They also include the regulation of location of facilities, protection of animal waste areas, handling and storage of animal waste, and field application of animal waste.

Proposed Regulations

Examples of proposed regulations are: No new feedlot with more than seven dairy cows, eight beef cows, etc., shall be constructed within one-half mile of the nearest point to a concentration of ten or more horses or within 1,000 feet of a public park. If the facility is smaller, the two distances are cut to one-quarter mile and 500 feet. All facilities which are subject to rainfall mixing with waste shall have a diversion ditch constructed around them to divert surface waters away from the feedlot.

No new facility shall be constructed within 300 feet of a stream or 1000 feet of a lake. Owners of feeding facilities for more than 100 annual animal units will eventually need operating permits. But all those with smaller facilities must still comply with all provisions of the act governing air and water pollution just as all the larger lots must do.

A copy of the proposed regulations is posted on the bulletin board at the county Extension office in Edwardsville.

State Seeks Rail Cars For Shipments of Grain

At the request of Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, the Illinois Commerce Commission will attempt to ease the expected shortage of freight cars to carry grain late this fall.

Chairman David H. Armstrong, responding to a letter from the governor, declared Monday, "I assure you that we on the commission share the deep feeling for the difficulties of Illinois farmers and shippers. We are undertaking a complete survey of the availability of freight cars and are doing everything possible in cooperation with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the midwest railroads to assure an adequate supply."

Ogilvie noted that agricultural exports from Illinois rose dramatically last year, and wrote Armstrong:

"Our recent agricultural trade mission to the Soviet Union demonstrated the potential of selling to markets which earlier had been thought to be inaccessible. Now we must do all we can to see that Illinois crops are able to move to these and other markets."

Advisory Committee for Police Urged at Pontoon

A plan to establish a citizens' advisory committee for the Pontoon Beach Police Department has been presented to the Pontoon Beach Village Board by Dr. Dean Rochester, a trustee.

The plan calls for establishment of a commission, equivalent to the boards of police commissioners in larger cities, to oversee operations of the department, but to be responsible to the village board.

Trustee John Cole said he suggested forming citizen committees to assist and guide the board several months ago but that the idea was discouraged by the other board members.

"I would like to know what kind of a change has come over this board," he commented.

Meeting Planned
Cole agreed to meet with village residents to see if there is sufficient interest to form such a police board. He will report to the village board at its next meeting, he said.

Cole, who resides on Marigold Drive, presented an ordinance to the board for the placement of stop signs along his street at Iris and Tulip courts. He said a formerly barricaded street connecting Marigold to East Kaseberg Park has been opened.

"and the street has become a race track."

The board questioned whether the barricades should have been removed. Trustee Fred Reecer said the roadway connecting Marigold to East Kaseberg Park was not built to withstand a heavy traffic load.

He indicated that the barricades should be returned.

Chief of Police Rosewell Bennett Jr. said that the road has provided a quick access for police to Kaseberg Park and asked that it be left open.

Dr. Dean Rochester agreed saying that since the village had annexed East Kaseberg Park recently, the board had an obligation to provide a road for the residents.

Reecer said he thought the road is only an easement to the village has obtained through private property. The easement is along the street and alley committee to study and report to the board at its next meeting.

To Check Price
The board agreed to check prices on two typewriters, one for the zoning inspector's office and one with a legal sized carriage for the police department.

They also gave permission to the village clerk, Mrs. Mary Sturdivant, to purchase a typewriter suitable for her needs.

Rochester, head of the parks committee, reported that he intends to call a meeting of the committee next week to discuss plans for financing a village park or mini-park.

He said board members presently are studying a federal document on available funding programs.

Immediate action was urged by the board members on completing work necessary to start the installation of an open drainage ditch near George-town Drive.

Engineering Work
Engineering work for the project has been completed but the state lacks easement which are to be obtained by the village before work can begin.

Cole said he intends to meet with the village engineers and Don McNew, chairman of the committee obtaining the easements, in an effort to speed up the project.

McNew, a board member, was absent from Thursday's meeting.

A monthly police department report for September showed that 37½ man hours were worked, squad cars were driven 2,194 miles and four accidents and 72 complaints were acted upon by officers.

There were eight traffic accidents during the preceding month.

The health department monthly report showed several citations and warnings had been issued for violations of the village nuisance abatement ordinance. Numerous other violations have been noted and action is pending, the report indicated.

The board deferred action on an amendment to an ordinance which would have reduced the speed limit on all village streets from 30 miles-per-hour to 20 miles-per-hour.

The amendment also would have set a 15 miles-per-hour limit in alleys.

Trustee Dr. Dean Rochester objected to the change, suggested by Trustee John Cole, saying that the amendment had not been presented to the Street and Alley Committee for study.

Cole is not a member of that committee.

Asks Legal Opinion
Rochester requested an opinion from the village attorney at the next board meeting on whether the trustees, legally were liable if they failed to uphold the village ordinances and enforce them.

He would not disclose the intent of the question but used the example of the liability of board members if village business licenses are not collected.

Action on an ordinance which would have required permits for child care centers was postponed when several trustees said the wording of the ordinance would require baby sitters to obtain licenses.

The board voted to seek bids from persons interested in purchasing the village's wrecked

Those Favoring Gov. Ogilvie Are Hopeful But Extremely Close Race Seems Probable

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service
Springfield — It's 1964 in reverse.

This is the latest Statehouse summation as the 1972 Illinois election campaign heads into its final week.

Eight years ago it was Democrat President Lyndon Johnson who raced far ahead in the polls throughout the campaign much as Republican President Richard Nixon has done this year.

Meanwhile, on the state level, 1964 Republican governor candidate Charles H. Percy battled steadily uphill against the top-of-the-ticket trend in a valiant effort to overturn Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner.

Now it's Democrat Daniel Walker trying to overcome the Republican top-of-the-ticket tide and unseat Ogilvie. But beneath the Capitol Dome the opinion is growing that Walker's fate could be that of Percy's in 1968.

For the record, President Nixon wound up carrying Illinois over Republican Barry M. Goldwater by 890,887 votes, while Kerner outlasted Percy by 179,299 votes.

Mr. Johnson received 59.5% of the total Illinois vote of 4,796,641 compared to 40.5% for Goldwater. By contrast, Kerner received 51.9% in the gubernatorial race to 48.1% for Percy.

For comparison purposes, the poll results have consistently shown Nixon receiving 60% or more. Ogilvie has been running ahead of Walker by about five points, generally a range of 52 to 57, depending on day-to-day fluctuations from areas polled, although there have been some indications it is closer than that.

In 1968, Ogilvie won election over appointive incumbent Democratic Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro with 51.2% of the vote to 48.8% for Shapiro. The remaining 4% went to the Socialist Labor candidate.

In the presidential race, Mr. Nixon received 47% of the Illinois vote, compared to 44.2% for Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey and 8.8% for George Wallace.

As far as comparing 1972 with 1964 is concerned, there are several differences, which generally balance out in favor of Ogilvie this year.

In 1964, Kerner began the campaign on a high note of popularity, while Ogilvie's popularity was at an exceptionally low ebb following the March primary which saw the Walker up-set over Democratic organization choice Lt. Gov. Paul Simon.

Democrats eight years ago also had a far stronger ticket than they do now, and the overall Republican state was generally weak, lacking the proven vote-getters now on the ticket.

Democrats then had popular incumbents in Auditor Michael J. Howlett and Attorney General William G. Clark plus Paul Powell, at the peak of his career in a flamboyant campaign for secretary of state. Republicans tried to match this trio with John Kirby, Elroy C. Sandquist and Elmer J. Hoffman, respectively.

This year, the Republicans not only have Mr. Nixon, but also such strong candidates as Sen. Percy and Attorney General William J. Scott. Democrats have Roman C. Pucinski and Thomas G. Lyons, neither given a chance to make much of a showing against Percy or Scott.

Republicans are hopeful that history will repeat—in reverse.

State Continues Look at Nursing Home Conditions

By RAY SERTI
Copley News Service

Springfield — Illinois officials are continuing their look at nursing homes throughout the state.

At the last official report early in October some 109 facilities had been closed since January of this year after they failed to meet the minimum standards. The standards were an outgrowth of findings of a special task force appointed to look into nursing home operations by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie.

The task force did design a computer system which is being used to check the facilities. Federal officials apparently were pleased with the computer setup and awarded Illinois some $20,000 to see if the system was effective.

If proven to be effective the federal officials will spread the word to other states. State Public Health Department officials have estimated that without the computer system several hundred more persons would have to have been hired to do the work.

The computer decides which facilities are to be inspected and what is to be done. Inspectors then visit the individual facilities.

The computer is operated by the Public Health Department but two other state agencies have been involved. They include the Public Aid Department and the Mental Health Department.

From September 1971 to September of 1972, the Public Health Department's Division of Long Term Care Facilities conducted about 3,349 surveys at 1,263 nursing homes.

One of the things that the Division looks for is adherence to the National Life Safety Code. This is used as the safety guidelines for the various facilities. The state is also trying to get a standardized training program for staff members of the facilities.

State officials are aiming for the possibility to have all of the long-term facilities pass the minimum standards.

Madison County residents purchased a total of $408,124 in Series E and H United States Savings Bonds in the month of September, according to Henry D. Karandjeff, Granite City volunteer chairman of the Savings Bonds Committee.

Purchases in the state of Illinois were $29,990,423 according to Clarence S. Sochowski, North Central Market Director, for the Department of the Treasury's Savings Bonds Division. This is 22.5% above September, 1971.

Illinois sales accounted for 6.4% of the national total of $472,000,000. As of the end of September, holdings of Series E and H bonds and freedom shares were $37.2 billion, an increase of $3 billion since last September.

Steel Production Nearly Doubled During August

Domestic steel production for the third quarter of this year was 37.2% higher than it was for the same period last year, according to American Iron and Steel Institute.

September production of 10,913,000 net tons brought the total for this year's third quarter to 32,096,000 tons. In the same quarter last year, the nation's steel furnaces poured only 23,394,000 tons.

During the last half of 1971, production slumped as buyers whittled down large inventories they had accumulated as a hedge against a possible mid-year steel strike which did not occur.

Through the first nine months of this year, domestic steel output reached 98,169,000 tons, compared with 95,163,000 tons for the comparable period last year.

Basic oxygen furnaces made 55,017,000 tons of the nine-month total for 1972. Open hearth output was 25,879,000 tons, while electric furnace production totaled 17,373,000 tons.

AIISI's steelmaking index, based on average 1967 production at 100, stood at 104.4 in September, 1972. This compares with an index of 100.4 for August and 95.7 for July.

Voting Machine Simple to Use; Offers Quick, Accurate Ballot Tabulation

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

Voting machines, which have been used in only two elections in Madison County, are being taken out of storage again for Tuesday's general election.

Those who have not used the machines need not view the machine as an obstacle to casting a proper ballot. The machines contain safeguards against improper ballots being cast. Far fewer ballots are spoiled on the machines than on paper ballots, election officials feel.

The machines are easily operated, and with a basic understanding of how they work few voters should experience difficulty in casting their ballots.

Accurate Tally
The self-contained systems for recording and counting votes provide immediate and accurate tallies of votes cast within moments after the polls close.

The count for each candidate is given in totals only and there is no possible way for election officials to determine for whom any single voter cast his ballot.

The vote counters are sealed inside the machine and can not be seen by election officials until after the polls close and the machines are opened in the presence of election judges and poll watchers from both the Republican and Democratic parties. When the machines are opened, the totals are recorded in the presence of the election officials who must sign the total slips, verifying their accuracy. The totals also must be left on the machines until after the period in which election results may be contested has expired.

Contains Safeguards

A safeguard to assure that no illegal votes have been cast includes a counter which shows how many ballots were cast during the day. The number on the machine must agree with the count of voters taken by election officials.

The officials must check the voter registration (pink) card of each voter and must cross his name from the eligible voter list before allowing the voter to enter the machine. Voters who do not bring their pink cards to the polls will not be allowed to vote.

When a voter's eligibility to cast a ballot has been determined, an election judge will see the machine to receive one ballot. After the ballot has been cast, the machine will lock against further ballots being cast until the judge has reset it. This assures that each voter can cast only one ballot.

Voting Procedure

Upon entering a voting machine, the voter will notice a large red handle in front of him. By pulling this handle all the way to the right, the curtains will close behind him and the machine will be ready to accept the vote.

The voter must not open the curtain again until he has completed his ballot. On the face of the machine will be the candidates' names in party rows. The first vertical column will be for Democratic party candidates; Republican candidates' names are in a second row. The third row is for Socialist Labor party candidates and those seeking office on the Communist party ticket are in the fourth column.

Special Ballot
The fifth column will be blank and the sixth column will contain a special green ballot asking if Fred P. Schuman should be retained in office as judge of the Circuit Court, Third Judicial Circuit. Voters may vote yes or no on the green ballot.

At the top of each column will be the party name and beside each party name is a lever, larger than the other voting levers. The lever at the top is the "straight party" lever and may be used by those wishing to vote for all candidates in that party.

If the straight party lever is turned down and to the left, the machine will lock all of the smaller levers beside each candidate's name. Only the small yes and no levers on the green (retention of judge) ballot will remain unlocked and the voter may then choose yes or no on that ballot.

May Split Ballot

Those wishing to split their vote (vote for one candidate more than one party), should not turn the straight party lever but should vote for each office by using the smaller levers.

To the right of each candidate's name will be a small lever. To vote for that candidate, the voter need only turn the lever to the left so that it points toward the candidate's name. When the lever is turned, a small "X" will appear in a box under the name, indicating that the vote will be cast for that candidate.

Only one lever is provided for president and vice-president of the United States as they will be elected together. Voters for president in one party will automatically cast a vote for the vice-presidential candidate for the same party.

Alternate Votes

Another exception is in the selection of state representatives where the voter is given three alternative ways to vote.

VOTING BY MACHINE may look complicated at first but voters in Madison County should experience little difficulty casting their ballots on the machines Tuesday. Election officials will be present to help those who have questions concerning the operation of the machines.

The two candidates' names in each major party are repeated in each of three adjoining segments in the Republican and Democratic columns. The machine is clearly marked telling voters of their alternatives.

Those voting in the top segment are instructed they may vote for only one candidate, thus giving him three votes. Those choosing the second or middle segment may vote for two candidates, giving each one and a half votes. The bottom segment allows the voters to vote for three candidates for state representative, giving each one vote.

Clearly Explained

The three choices are clearly explained in the wording on the machine and should provide little confusion to those who carefully read the alternatives. If a voter prefers to write-in the name of a person rather than to vote for any or all of the candidates on the ballot, the machine provides a simple method of writing-in the name.

At the far left of the ballot are listed the offices which the candidates seek. By the name of each office is a number, starting with one for president and vice-president and numbered consecutively down the ballot. The numbers are called the "PC" or "personal choice" numbers.

Write-In Voting
At the far upper left corner of the machine is a button marked "PC" and below the button is a series of slides which when opened reveal slips of paper for write-ins.

When a voter wishes to write in a candidate, he need only follow three steps:

The first step is to push in the PC button at the top left of the machine. The button must be held in until the second step is completed.

Second Step

While the button is depressed, the voter may push over the metal slide with the number corresponding to the office he wishes his write-in candidate to have. When the slide has been moved to expose the paper beneath, the "PC" button may be released and the write-in candidate's name be written on the exposed paper.

Then the slide should be returned to its original position. When the voter leaves the booth, the strip of paper will be advanced so that the next voter will not be able to see what name was written-in.

The write-in procedure may be followed for as many offices as the voter wishes to name candidates not on the ballot.

Take Pencil to Poll

Those planning to write-in a candidate must bring their own pencils or pens to the polling place. Writing instruments will not be provided inside of the machines. Those who fail to bring a pencil or pen may ask election officials to use a writing instrument but this must be done before the voter enters the booth.

After all write-in votes have been cast and all levers have been set, the voter should look over the ballot to see that all "X" marks appear next to the names of the candidates for whom he wishes to vote.

The voter also should check in the far right (green column) to see that an "X" appears beside yes or no on the judge retention ballot if he wishes to have his vote counted on that issue.

Casting Ballot

After the voter is satisfied with the ballot before him, he may only return the large red handle with which he is voting curtain all the way to the left, and the vote will be recorded.

The machine's levers will return to their original position and the write-in slips of paper will advance into the machine before the curtain opens so that the next voter will not know what votes were cast by the person before him.

If the voter has made a mistake, an election judge should be informed immediately.

The main advantage of using the voting machines is that the votes are tabulated automatically and in seconds, as compared to hours which were necessary to count votes from paper ballots.

Results also may be returned quickly, thus providing more accuracy than paper ballots as the possibility of human error is reduced.

Parents Work, Children Lonely

By PAT and MARILYN DAVIS Copley News Service

Dear Pat and Marilyn: My mother works and my father travels all over the world for a large oil company. I hardly know my father. My sister and I have to baby-sit our little brother. In fact, we are like mothers to him. I think he loves us more than he loves our mother. I am lonely for my parents. What can we do?

Sandra: Dear Sandra: Tell your mother just what you have told me. Perhaps she has forgotten the importance of spending a little time with her family—especially when the father must be away from the home due to business commitments.

Dear Pat and Marilyn: I have been going steady with Al since we were sophomores in high school. We are now seniors. Al used to call me every day. We ate lunch together whenever possible and he drove me home after school. We went everywhere together and I liked it that way. Now I am lucky to see Al once during the week and on weekends. Why the sudden slowdown? I'm afraid he is losing interest in me.

Jenny: Dear Jenny: You don't have to be like two peanuts in a shell. Circulate and develop a few new interests. You may be surprised at what is just around the corner.

Dear Pat and Marilyn: Like everyone else writing to you, I also have a problem. My boyfriend and I have been dating a year and plan to get married, but my parents are against it. He is 23, a college graduate, and I am 21. We both have good jobs. At first, my parents had no objections to this young man. Then my mother seemed to change. She would lock herself in her bedroom and refuse to come out until my friend left the house.

We became engaged in December and now my parents refuse to let my fiancé come to the house. Why would they change so drastically? They know his family and they are all nice, decent people. My fiancé works hard and has done well. My relatives all like him. I love my parents and don't want to hurt them. However, this isn't the first time they have acted this way. What should I do to keep them happy? I love my fiancé and cannot imagine life without him.

Helpless: Dear Helpless: First, do not think of yourself as helpless. Your letter was well written and you are obviously a considerate, intelligent young woman capable of making decisions. Ask someone your parents respect to have a talk with them. In the meantime, consider the fact that some parents find it difficult to allow their children to grow up. But

The Theatre Department of Assumption High School will present the recent Broadway revival version of the hilarious musical comedy, "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

Performances will be given on November 3, 4, 5, 10, 11 and 12 at 8 p.m. Reserved seats are available by calling 1-397-6266. Assumption Theatre is located at the intersection of Illinois Highways 50 and 111 between East St. Louis and Belleville.

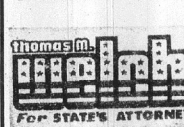

The story revolves around three houses in ancient Rome. A freedman, desiring slave, Pseudolus, attempts to win his freedom from his master, Hero, by gaining for Hero his true love, Philia. Comedy ensues with Pseudolus and Hysterium, another slave, getting entangled in all sorts of predicaments in their attempt to get Philia.

Pseudolus is played by Bill Hamilton, a senior. Hysterium is portrayed by Bob Kratky, another senior, and Hero is played by Mike Foley, a junior. The leading female roles are held by Lauri Meek, Philia, and Sheila O'Brian, Domina.

Course in Natural Hygiene Set at SIUE

A course in natural hygiene will be offered in three sessions by the Free University at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville starting at 7 p.m. today in the Ohio Room of the University Center.

The first session will be natural childbirth and the hygienic care of children given by Mrs. Helen Buss of St. Louis. Mrs. Buss is a former teacher and the wife of a college instructor.

She is the mother of four children who have been given hygienic care. The public is invited. No pre-registration is necessary. The sessions are free.

Natural hygiene is that branch of biology which investigates the conditions upon which health depends and the means by which it may be sustained, and restored when it has been impaired. It is not a branch of medicine.

Natural hygiene seeks to understand the nature and influence of air, water, food, light, exercise, sleep and the emotions, and to apply the knowledge of these things in the processes of living.

The practices of natural hygiene are based on the truths of physiology and biology and are sustained by all the discoveries which mark the development of the biological sciences.

Education Must Catch Up to Social Changes

Educational policy-makers in America must stop acting as if the nation were still made up of rural and small-city folk and catch up with social changes which have made America an urban society, says Robert Mason, education professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Mason's thesis is set forth in an article "Decline and Crisis in Big-City Education", one of two Mason articles in a recently released book, "Inquiries Into the Social Foundations of Education". The book, published by Rand McNally & Co. of Chicago, is edited by Alfred Lightfoot of Loyola University of Los Angeles.

"American public schools at the extremes of population concentration are not working well," Mason says. "Financial problems, problems of control and poor working conditions plague the very small and the very large school systems." Mason says up to now, self-contained cities with populations between 10,000 and 80,000 have had the best school systems, in part because the impoverishment found in small villages, the exclusiveness of suburbs and the disorganization of large cities are minimized.

But, Mason says, the small cities "are progressively being merged in the megalopolitan spread," losing distinctive characteristics that have helped their schools to function well.

Off-Campus Programs in Counseling Set by SIUE

A master of science degree in education with a concentration in counseling is the most recently instituted off-campus week-end program offered by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to students employed full-time who would be unable to do graduate work on campus.

Donald King, chairman of the university's counselor education department, said 48 students have enrolled in the program since it began earlier this year at Scott Air Force Base near Belleville. The degree program was established by SIUE in response to a request from the Military Airlift Command.

The university has been a pioneer in developing new educational delivery systems similar to the one being used by the counselor education department. The SIUE Business Division started offering intensive week-end course work in 1980 leading to a master's degree in business administration at nine Military Airlift Command bases in the U.S. and one in the Azores, and just began a similar program in St. Louis.

The SIUE department of government and public affairs for several years has offered an M.S. in government at a leased facility in Washington, D. C., and recently instituted the format in St. Louis.

Non-School Counselors
"Our program is designed mainly for non-school counselors," King said. "It prepares people for a variety of occupations including counseling within the military, employment counseling, mental counseling and work in various community agencies."

King said most of the students enrolled at Scott are military personnel, but the classes include quite a few civilians, including three school teachers.

"We're teaching two courses each academic quarter, with two sections for each course," he said. "We've had a much greater response than what we had anticipated."

Each course is taught on three weekends for six hours on Saturday and six hours on Sunday. The weekend sessions are two weeks apart, and between the sessions students write papers and do research and reading assignments. King said students can complete their degree in seven quarters of continuous attendance. "Very few of these students, whose average age is probably in the mid-30s, could have obtained a graduate degree without this kind of format, because they're employed full-time in responsible jobs," King said. "We're doing everything we can to meet their needs—the students actively participate in the evaluation of the format."

Mature Approach
King said the students have a mature approach and bring varied experiences to the classroom.

"I think all our participating faculty members have been delighted and amazed at the general enthusiasm of these students," King said. "I've taught some of the same courses on our campus, but in this program I've felt a more cohesive reaction and I've got to know the students well."

Admission requirements are the same as for students admitted to SIUE on-campus graduate programs. Like the off-campus programs in business administration and government, the counselor education program is completely self-supporting through tuition and fees.

BRITISH PRIMARY EDUCATION. Richard Ault, left, of Granite City and George Kuhn of Carbondale visit with Mrs. Margaret Matthias, assistant professor of elementary education at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, while waiting for the opening session of the late October SIU Conference on British Primary Education. Mrs. Matthias, a native of Scotland, was one of the conference organizers and staff members. Ault teaches in Granite City, and Kuhn at the Giant City School.

Free Eye Tests Set Saturday at Coolidge

A Vision Conservation Institute S.O.S. "Save Our Sight" vision screening program will be offered to the public free of charge Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Coolidge Junior High School Cafeteria.

The program is sponsored by the Granite City Kiwanis Club and the Jaycees.

According to Joe Palovich, and Darrell Weible, joint chairmen, the free screening program is offered to "persons of all ages from 3 to 100" and will include checks for near and far acuity, muscle balance or eye teaming, hyperopia, astigmatism, near accommodation, color perception, field of vision, and glaucoma eye pressure.

"Persons having unsatisfactory checks in the screening will be referred to an eye doctor of their choice for examination and diagnosis," the spokesman said. He added that the screening will be supervised by doctors from the Southwestern Illinois Optometric Society, who also will administer the glaucoma eye pressure test.

"The importance of these tests can be realized when you consider that more than 20% of school age children and 41% of adults have undetected functional vision problems which impair their ability to see," Fred Marvin, executive secretary of the Vision Conservation Institute, said.

"Over 80% of learning and 90% of driving decisions depend on good vision," he added.

Traveling Art Exhibit By Handicapped Formed

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield — A paper-mache mask looking like the personification of a monumental hangover: a clay head of a man with a smile as enigmatic as the Mona Lisa; a brilliantly colored stylized horse which could have come from an Etruscan tomb; a factual, straightforward drawing of a straight-backed chair — they all represent something more than immediately meets the eye.

Each is the work of a handicapped student who had to overcome his own internal challenges before he could even begin to master the challenges of whichever medium of expression he had chosen.

In Illinois, a big traveling exhibit of such are by the handicapped has been put together for the past three years by the Instructional Materials Center of the office of state superintendent of schools Michael J. Bakalis, and the department of art and special education of Northern Illinois University at DeKalb.

The exhibit has been shown throughout the nation and requests have been received to show it outside the country, though problems of transportation and expense have made that impractical so far.

Presently the fourth such exhibit is being put together at NIU, to begin its year-long tour next spring. A deadline of Jan. 19 has been set for receiving two and three dimensional works.

From the more than a thousand entries expected, a final selection of works to be shown will be made at the university on Jan. 26.

To Tour Country
The finished show is put together in units, one or more of which may appear at any given spot which has requested the exhibit. The full display will be shown from March 1 through March 18 at NIU, after which the various units will start on their separate ways through Illinois and throughout the country.

Only two-dimensional items are included in the traveling exhibit, with photographs used to show the selected three-dimensional works.

Every handicapped youngster who submits a work for the exhibit receives a certificate from the superintendent's office showing that he participated.

Daniel J. Dobbert, assistant director of the instructional materials center at DeKalb, said that "too often the handicapped cannot hope for any kind of award that means anything to anyone else."

They may get a certificate showing they didn't miss a day of school or something like that, but usually they can't hope to win a real award for achievement. This gives them something to show other people, to show they really did something significant by themselves."

25th Dads Day Set for Nov. 11 At U. of I. Campus

The Dads Association of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign marks its Silver Anniversary at this year's Dad's Day, Nov. 11.

As an anniversary project, the association will dedicate a self-service postal station on the campus. At its annual meeting at 10 a.m. that day, Chancellor J. W. Peltason will speak.

The meeting, dedication and Illinois-Indiana football game are highlights of 1972 Dad's Day on the campus where this observance originated in 1920.

The association's year-around activities will be discussed Nov. 10 at an afternoon meeting of its county chairmen, grass-roots representatives from over the state.

Among the county chairmen are Donn O. Keeney, 2639 E. 23rd St.

Roy C. Hamman, Bloomington, is president of the Dads Association, which has carried on a half-century of service to students, parents and the university.

At the association's annual dinner for all dads Nov. 10, Peltason will welcome them, and Cecil Coleman, new director of intercollegiate athletics, will speak.

Students have planned many week-end events for their dads. Various groups have special events, and an Illinois Union Student Activities committee headed by Robert Kerr, Orion, is in charge of campus-wide events, including selection of one father as "King Dad" to represent all dads.

To lessen expense in submitting entries, arrangements have been made to have participating schools and centers take their art works to the closest regional instructional center or the Springfield center.

From there they will be sent to DeKalb at no expense to the source. Works also may be taken directly to DeKalb, where they must be delivered by Jan. 21. Art sent to regional centers or Springfield must be delivered by Jan. 17.

In loving memory of ALICE MCQUINNEY who passed away Nov. 2, 1969: Today recalls sad memories of a loved one gone to rest. Those who think of you today Are the ones who loved you best. What I would give to see you smile. Today sit with me and talk a while. The blow was sudden, The shock severe, To part with one I loved so dear. I often sit and think of you, Think you used to say and do, I wonder why you had to die Without a chance to say goodbye. Sadly missed by The Family and all those who loved her 33-11-2
In loving memory of PETER GALINSKI SR. who passed away on Nov. 4, 1968. At 3 o'clock each afternoon We say a special prayer That God will keep our dear one in His ever loving care. At 3 o'clock Christ also died One Friday long ago, And there were those who did not weep. And those who did not know We pray for one dear perfect man. Who also passed away. He is a silent echo of a silent prayer. And every day at 3 o'clock We say a special prayer That God will keep our dear one in His ever loving care. Sadly missed by His Family 33-11-2
In loving memory of JOHN J. TAYLOR, Nov. 6, 1971: I cannot say, and I will not say That he is dead. He is just away. With a cheerful smile and a wave of the hand, He has wandered into an unknown land. And left us drooping how very fair. If needs must be since he lingered there. Think of him faring on, as dear. In the face of there as the love of here. Think of him still as the same. I say: He is not dead—he is just away. Sadly missed by WIFE and CHILDREN 33-11-2

State Aids Communities Needing Ambulance Units

By JOAN MURARO
Copy News Service

Springfield — A major highway, darkness, a severe, a skid, a crash, and four occupants of a car lie bleeding with various injuries.

Witnesses may summon help, police may arrive promptly, major medical facilities may be available in the area, but any or all of the victims may die of suffer unnecessary complications, for lack of a common thing which is becoming a rarity in many Illinois areas — an ambulance.

In a day when medical miracles are becoming commonplace, it is ironic that coming increasingly difficult to get the "consumer" to the "provider" so that he can benefit.

To help fill the void, the Illinois Department of Transportation currently is beefing up its efforts to help communities avail themselves of federal assistance which will pay them back 90% of what they spend to provide ambulance service in their areas.

Until recently, outside metropolitan areas ambulance service was usually provided as a sort of public-service sideline by local funeral directors.

The "ambulance" usually was an all-purpose vehicle which doubled as a hearse; the "crew" were the mortician or his regular staff.

How much, and what quality, emergency care they dispensed depended on the people themselves and what training they had, if any.

Increasing Disaffection — As emergency treatment procedures, sparked by knowledge gained in Vietnam, have become more sophisticated, there has been an increasing dissatisfaction with ambulance service which is really only "horizontal transportation."

It generally is admitted, says Marvin Hardin, traffic safety coordinator for the transportation department, that the injured benefit if the ambulance company can competently administer emergency treatment, or if the ambulance has a radio for receiving a doctor's evaluation and advice.

But many communities cannot afford ambulances meeting the specifications of the American College of Surgeons, nor can they afford the radio equipment which costs upwards of a thousand dollars.

Moves to require such standards, plus personnel who have completed Red Cross advanced courses in first aid, have so far failed to pass the Illinois legislation, but they are bound to come up again and probably, Hardin feels, will be required by federal law before long in all states.

In anticipation of the requirements, funeral directors are dropping ambulance service in droves, he said, leaving communities which once had service of a sort with no service at all.

Will Investigate Need — On request of any governmental body, Hardin said, he and his staff will investigate the need, determine what help is available, and guide a community or group of communities in following guidelines and obtaining the equipment they need, and then getting half the cost back.

The state will provide radios for ambulances, free of charge, he said.

A "modular" type ambulance costs about $14,000 and a luxury vehicle ambulance has a price tag of $18,000 to $20,000. Main- taining, staffing, insuring and licensing the ambulance however can run to thousands of dollars a year, unless ways can be found to reduce overhead, he added.

Helping communities find these ways is the purpose of the present informational push, Hardin said, with the ultimate goal of preventing needless suffering and death on Illinois highways, almost within sight of modern medical facilities, just because there wasn't a way to get there.

Grieg, Debussy Shine In 'Biggest Hit' Series

By JUDY HUGG
Copy News Service

RCA is racing through the classical composers with its "biggest hits" series. The latest to be accorded the "hit" category are Grieg, Debussy, Rachmaninoff and Tchaikovsky.

"Grieg's Biggest Hits" (VICS-1670) features the Nordic composer's biggest hit of all (how could it be left out?): the "Concerto in A Minor." Those who have heard it before might like to try this record because of the great sound of the Philharmonic and pianist Klari Bakkeklund. They make some of the non-Nordic interpretations sound anemic. Other Grieg favorites on the album include the "Peer Gynt Suite No. 1," "Anitra's Dance," "Symphonic Dance No. 3" (Morton Gould conducting) and the very lovely "Wedding Day at Troldhaugen" by pianist Liv Glaser.

"Debussy's Biggest Hits" (VICS-1668) are on the dreamy side: "Clair de lune," "Reverie" and "Prelude to the Afternoon of a Faun." Morton Gould and his orchestra have the right, light touch for the first two, and Charles Munch and the Boston Symphony grasp all of the Debussy nuances in the "Faun prelude." Leonard Pennario is brilliantly impressive with the magnificent chords of "The Sunken Cathedral."

Piano Concerto — Another piano concerto that couldn't possibly be left out is featured in "Rachmaninoff's Biggest Hits" (VICS-1673). This is of course "Piano Concerto No. 2" — and how could you have guessed? But music lovers never tire of hearing it, and buying the records of symphonies that record it. This interpretation is by Enrique Jordana and the San Francisco Symphony, with Alexander Brailowsky playing an appropriately romantic piano solo. Anna Moffo, the soprano, is purely in sound with Rachmaninoff's "Vocalise." Also on the album is the Paganini rhapsody variations.

"Tchaikovsky's Biggest Hits" (VICS-1676) surprises. Nowhere is there, as one might suspect, a piano concerto or symphony movement. Instead, the "hits" are the "1812 Overture" (Morton Gould Orchestra), "Capriccio Italien" (Kiri Korolchuk and the RCA Symphony) and "Marche Slave" (Fritz Reiner and the Chicago Symphony).

All are beautifully done. Gould throws in the sound of gunfire in the "1812 Overture," a brooding piece of pure Tchaikovsky that depicts the Russian triumph over the French.

Two New Albums — Wayne Jennings has two new albums out by RCA-Victor. Jennings picked all country favorites for his album "Heartaches by the Number" and Other Country Favorites. "Tiger by the Tail" and "Foolin' Round," introduced by Buck Owens; "Busted," a big one by Ray Charles, and Johnny's Cash's "Folsom Prison Blues" are given the full Jennings treatment.

On the album "Ladies Love Outlaws" Jennings has come up with some tunes suited ideally to his style. He goes from the lonely, isolated feelings of "Frisco Depot" to his own song, "Sure Didn't Take Her Long," which tells all about the gal Ann, who was his at break-fast but gone by supper time.

Jennings is at his very best, which is great, on these albums. Any true country fan must have them in his collection.

"Love Is Blue" is an RCA-Victor album dedicated to "blow." Jim Ed Brown is an Arkansas boy who preferred singing to sylphing — "Four benefits," Jim Ed says he picks his material for the story "and if I can feel it."

His selection of tunes for this platter is great. It plays well from "Unbelievable Love," "Darlin'," to "Helpin' Her Get Over It."

George Hamilton IV has successfully melded Canadian folk-country and southern-country in his RCA-Victor album "Travelin' Light." A lot of good material is used here, including works by Gordon Lightfoot, Gene MacLellan, Bill Anderson, Curly Putnam and Neal Davenport which gives you an idea of the caliber of this platter. The title song is great, and so is "It Was Time To Move On Anyway" and "Beaver Creek." The Tar Heel gentleman is quite an artist.

Federal Revenue Sharing Law This Month Offers Chance to Cut Property Tax Burden

By GOVERNOR RICHARD B. OGILVIE

There are times when I must have sounded like a broken record on the subject of federal revenue sharing.

Richard Nixon and I first discussed the new concept in early 1968, even before he was a candidate for the presidency.

We saw eye-to-eye on the critical need for such a plan to assure adequate and equitable funding for all levels of government.

That was nearly five years ago. And until Oct. 13, federal revenue sharing remained nothing more than the dream of public officials who understood what it could mean for the vitality of our federal system.

Now, Congress—at long last—has acted. Revenue sharing is a reality. And it is time to make some other old dreams come true.

By that, I mean property tax relief.

The time for talking is past. It is time to take action to stop the steady climb of local property taxes.

That's exactly what we will do when the General Assembly—which I have called into special session—meets here in Springfield in late November.

In my official call for the session, I have charged the legislators with accomplishing four major tasks:

1) Impose a freeze on all real estate taxes at present levels.

2) Authorize property tax rebates by city, county and township governments.

3) Authorize state participation in funding the construction of new schools.

4) Promote cooperation between units of local government in utilizing the massive new shared federal funds.

By and large, our plan to let the taxpayers share in the benefits from this long-awaited federal program has met with widespread approval on both sides of the political aisle.

This is a hopeful sign for such bipartisan support bodies will be for its eventual passage by the Legislature.

But misunderstandings have developed which could endanger our chances of clamping the lid of property taxes.

There are some people, for example, who fear that by placing the freeze on 1972 taxes—which won't go in the mail until next spring—we are encouraging local officials to raise taxes before the freeze takes effect.

Their fear is unfounded, for several reasons.

In the first place, hundreds of local governments already have certified their tax levies to the county clerks, as required by law, and the levies can't be changed without additional enactments.

Others are well along in the budget-making process and are not going to go back over everything they have done just to add a few dollars here and there.

Most of all, however, this fear of forcing taxes up and down doesn't take into account the pressures which can be brought to bear by tens of thousands of tax-weary homeowners.

It is worthwhile to remember that municipal elections in hundreds of cities and villages are coming up next spring, and it will be a rare mayor or village president who deliberately raises his tax levy just to "get in under the wire" ahead of the freeze.

Such a fear is based upon a fundamental and unwarranted distrust of thousands of dedicated local officials—people like your next-door neighbor, or the man next to you on the assembly line, or your partner at a card party.

Just a few of them are dishonest—just as there are dishonest men and women in every walk of life.

Now, with a new source of funds, it is time to turn our attention to another high priority—the property taxpayers of Illinois.

The program which will be considered by legislators next month is one which, I believe, will bring the steady increase in local tax bills to a screeching halt.

Schools to Seek 75% of Revenue Sharing Funds

The Council of Large District Boards, a section of the Illinois Association of School Boards, is asking that at least 75% of all federal revenue sharing funds received by the state be earmarked for public elementary and secondary schools.

Donald Stucke of the Granite City Board of Education is CLDB vice-chairman.

Meeting in Springfield, the council drafted a resolution urging the parent committee to seek a major portion of the revenue sharing income as one way of boosting the state's education.

True, the state's share now stands at about 37%. Local taxes account for about 58%.

In other activities, the District Council:
